

LOMPOC'S new $14.5 million sewage treatment facility, photographed over the weekend by Record photographer Dan Duffy from a plane provided by Lompoc Flight Service, is now 50 per cent complete. When in operation in March, 1977, the plant off Bailey and Central Avenues, will treat four million gallons of sewage a day, producing what Sanitation Supt. Jim Brightwell called a "good quality secondary effluent" that meets stringent state requirements for discharge into the Santa Ynez River. The approximately 2.2 million gallons a day will replenish fresh water withdrawals from underground in the West Valley, and also will help keep the ground water basin level high enough to retard salt water intrusion, according to Brightwell.

Leaders launch crackdown on worst world recession

RAMBOUILLET, France (UPI) — President Ford and leaders of five allied industrial nations today launched a joint crackdown on the worst world recession in four decades. Ford hailed it as "a conviction that we can master our future."

Ford and the leaders of Britain, France, Japan, Germany and Italy were jubilant over resolution of the thorniest problem in the three-day economic summit — an end to deep U.S.-French disputes over the international monetary system.

In their "Declaration of Rambouillet," the six leaders said:

"We welcome the rapprochement, reached at the request of many other countries, between the views of the United States and France on the need for stability that the reform of the international monetary system must promote."

Immediately after issuing the declaration capping three days of informal, cordial discussions held in this quaint countryside village 30 miles from Paris, the leaders dispersed. Ford boarded Air Force One at Orly Airport for his return to Washington.

"We intend to play our own full part and strengthen our efforts for closer international cooperation and constructive dialogue among all countries, transcending differences in stages of economic development, degrees of resource endowment and political and social systems," the 1,500-word declaration said.

The six men said their nations are determined to overcome unemployment, inflation and energy problems. There was no specific action cited, but the leaders made their declaration a charter for perhaps the most extensive free world economic cooperation in history.

Symbolic of the spirit of Rambouillet perhaps was an apparent change in France's demand that the United States abandon its floating monetary exchange system in favor of fixed exchange rates.

Conference sources said the agreement between Ford and President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing resulted in France all but relinquishing its demands for the fixed rate system.

In a separate statement, Ford said "Perhaps our most important accomplishment over the past several days has been our recognition that the objective of sustained, stable economic growth will be facilitated by our common efforts... Over the past three days, in this beautiful setting, we have found a new spirit — a spirit of cooperation."

He asserted the six leaders believe free people "can master their future."

The high points of the declaration, hammered out at the historic 14th century castle, were pledges to eliminate "the waste" of unemployment, restrain inflation, lower barriers to world trade, increase commercial exchanges with Communist countries, stabilize international currency exchanges, give developing nations a better break and reduce dependence on imported energy.

Spokesmen said Ford prevailed in his insistence on keeping the floating exchange system, which substantially benefits U.S. export sales.

They said, however, that Ford agreed the central banks of the six industrial powers should step in quickly when necessary to prevent disruptive fluctuations in currencies.

"Our monetary authorities will act to counter disorderly market conditions, or erratic fluctuations, in exchange rates," the declaration said.

The six said their "most urgent task" is to defeat recession and unemployment, while at the same time staving off further inflation.

"We will not allow the recovery to falter," the declaration said. "We will not accept another outburst of inflation."

Ford led in discussing energy, one of the major problems facing the United States. He argued and the others agreed that economic growth "is clearly linked to getting more energy sources."

The six said they will continue to cooperate "to reduce our dependence on imported energy through conservation and the development of alternative sources."

for crimes of violence.

When a preliminary 1974 report in March showed an increase of nearly 17 per cent, Attorney General Edward Levi said the figures "represent a tragic failure on the part of our present system of criminal justice."

The report showed percentages of increase were lowest — 12 per cent — in cities of more than 250,000 population compared to 20 per cent increases in suburban and rural areas.

Crime rates remained much higher in the urban centers, however. The rate per 100,000 inhabitants were 5,621 for metropolitan areas, 4,027 for other cities and 1,746 for rural areas.

Thefts showed the biggest increase, 21 per cent, followed by burglaries 18.5 per cent, robberies 15.1 per cent, rapes 7.8 per cent, assaults 8.5 per cent, murders 5.5 per cent and auto thefts 5.2 per cent.

Preliminary 1975 estimates show the high rate of crime has continued this year. A report for the first quarter showed another 18 per cent gain, but by June 30 it had dropped to 13 per cent.

Youth contributed heavily to the big general increase, the report showed. Arrests of persons under 18 years old increased 9 per cent. For those over 18 the increase was 1 per cent.

Women have become involved in serious crimes in far greater numbers than ever, the report showed. Arrests of women increased 8.6 per cent, compared to 1.9 per cent for males. Arrests of women since 1960 increased 108.8 per cent; arrests of males in the same period rose 23.7 per cent.

Tax reform fight looms with panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional liberals are squaring off with the House Rules Committee on a multimillion dollar decision whether to toughen provisions of a major tax reform bill.

The controversy is expected to focus on ending tax shelters in the real estate industry, a change first approved but then severely weakened by the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

The Rules Committee takes up the bill today.

The bill, as approved by Ways and Means, also would continue the 1975 personal income tax cuts but does not contain the spending ceiling demanded by President Ford as his price for approving the tax reductions.

The crucial decision before the Rules Committee is: Will liberals be allowed to offer a series of amendments to increase the tax bite on the well-to-do?

The Rules Committee decides which bills may reach the House floor when, and which amendments may be offered. The liberal amendments, including one tightening the minimum tax on the rich and another dealing with tax shelters, would raise treasury revenue by $872 million.

The liberals also want to restore a withholding tax on U.S. investments of foreigners, speed the tightening of special tax breaks for exporters and eliminate a special, three-year capital loss carryback that could provide Texas millionaire H. Ross Perot with a $15 million tax refund.

Liberals anticipated trouble with the committee. Rep. William Green, D-Pa., already has collected the necessary signatures on a petition to call a Democratic caucus meeting.

Under recent reforms, the Democratic caucus can order the Rules Committee to take specific actions.

Green passed the word he will use the petition immediately if the committee does not do exactly as the liberals wish.

If they win their committee battle the next fight is on the floor.

Fire station rehab gets top priority

By ROBERT O. VINCENT
City editor

Lompoc Fire Station rehabilitation would receive the major share of the $242,000 first-year funds of a nearly $1 million three-year Community Development Block Grant appropriations under a recommendation to be considered by the City Council Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall Council Chambers.

City Administrator Gene L. Wahlers' proposed first-year program does not include funding for a requested Senior Citizen Center.

His proposal calls for $188,000 to be spent on the fire station rehabilitation, with an additional $15,000 each to electric distribution system improvements and a continuation of the housing rehabilitation loan program and $24,000 to contingencies.

Wahlers calls the fire station project "a basic and vital community need which affects every citizen." The $15,000 for the electric distribution system project would enable that program to be started in 1976-77 and completed the following year.

Wahlers' recommendations for the first-year program were taken from a list of programs and projects developed by the city staff from citizen input at two public hearings on the CDBG on Oct. 2, 14 and 29, and at the council meeting of Nov. 4.

The $998,000 in estimated available funds under the grant would come in increments of $370,000 in 1977-78 fiscal year and $376,000 in 1978-79 in addition to next year's $242,000.

The three-year alternative projects program, which the council will be asked to approve as the initial step in the city's application for $988,000, includes these amounts:

Electric distribution system improvements, $75,000; fire station, $188,000; housing rehabilitation loan program, $75,000; industrial park acquisition loan and/or grant program for public facilities, $100,000; recreation facilities (youth recreation area and lounge and gymnasium), $100,000; senior center, $100,000; water reservoir, $255,000; contingencies, $95,000.

Next year's application procedure and public hearings will be repeated, Wahlers said, in order to review, add to or amend the three-year program and select the specific first-year projects.

The application the council will be asked to approve actually is the second under the CDBG for Lompoc. A $99,000 grant has been authorized for the current fiscal year.

Wahlers' comments on the recommended programs detail the proposals as follows:

Electric distribution system improvements: Would complete the proposed undergrounding of utility lines in the area between I and G streets and the north/south alleys, considered an important part of the downtown revitalization project. Undergrounding in this area will make possible further property owner improvements as well as improvements in vehicular and pedestrian circulation and parking.

Fire station: Upgrading of the existing facilities, described as a "mixture of original construction and additions dating from the 1890s, 1930s and 1950s. The portion housing the equipment is the oldest and subject to structural failure, according to Wahlers.

Housing rehabilitation loans: Designed to provide three per cent loans to low-income families for home improvements, continuing the current program.

Industrial park or public facilities: Would acquire property for lease back to potential developers of new businesses or to provide loan funds to assist with the installation of utilities in an industrial park area, the objective being to stimulate economic development with its resultant benefits.

Recreation facilities: Proposes an addition to the swimming pool and recreation building to provide a youth recreation area and lounge in addition to a gym for use by all age groups.

Senior center: Provides for conversion of city hall or development of a separate community center facility for seniors.

Water reservoir: Provides for up to half of the funds needed for the new reservoir project. Balance of the money would come from water fund revenues.

Contingencies: Ten per cent of available funds are recommended to be budgeted for unforeseen project expenditures.

Also on Tuesday's agenda are second readings for two ordinance amendments, one making discharge of firearms in the city a misdemeanor and the other deleting a section of the city code relating to truck routes; and a second reading of an ordinance rezoning property at 501 E. Pine Ave. from R-3 to R-1.

Council members also will hear a report from the Beautification Commission, a presentation by transportation planning engineer J. Lorden regarding the implementing of transit service in the county, and a report on addition of trees and shrubs at the Wye costing $350.

Police hold man in murder attempt; victim critical

A 32-year-old gardener, Albert Bedell Tucker was in critical condition in Lompoc Hospital today with a bullet wound in the stomach and a 40-year-old apartment dweller was jailed on a charge of attempted murder.

Tucker of 435 South H St., reportedly had a wound in the left abdomen, below the rib cage. Lompoc Hospital officials said the man was in grave condition this morning.

Jailed was Leslie Vernon Beaupre of 721 North C St., Apt. 21. Bail was set at $3,000. A small caliber revolver was reportedly seized by police in Beaupre's apartment. Beaupre blurted out that he had shot Tucker, investigators said, before they could caution him about his rights under the Miranda law governing statements to police.

The incident erupted Saturday shortly after 8 a.m. Investigators said the dispute may have stemmed from an argument over a woman. Tucker was found semiconscious on a second floor balcony between apartments 21 and 22. Beaupre lives in apartment 21. Police said Tucker told them he was shot in the stomach and he didn't know what had happened.

Douglas in farewell note to colleagues on bench

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retired Justice William O. Douglas, in a farewell letter to his colleagues on the Supreme Court, today compared his 36-year career on the high bench to a canoe trip that must end but leaves a "happy memory."

With its seating rearranged during its first session since the 77-year-old Douglas retired last week after serving longer than any other justice, the Court today bid a formal farewell to Douglas and paid tribute to his career.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger read aloud the letter, as well as a parting letter which the other justices jointly had written to Douglas, who retired Wednesday because "incessant pain" would allow him to continue no longer.

Although suggesting they did not always see eye-to-eye with the liberal-minded Douglas, the justices spoke of his "unparalleled knowledge of the multitude of decisions of the court" over more than a third of a century as a "unique resource" — one that "may never again be present at our conference table."

Douglas, a life-long naturalist, said his career on the court reminded him of many canoe trips he had taken.

"Those who start down a water course may be strangers at the beginning but almost invariably are close friends at the end," he said. "Inevitably there came the last camp fire, the last breakfast cooked over last night's fire, and the parting was always sad."

"And yet in fact there was no parting because each happy memory of the choice parts of the journey — and of the whole journey — was of a harmonious united effort filled with fulfilling and beautiful hours as well as dull and dreary ones."

Moore found 'competent' to stand trial Dec. 15

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sara Jane Moore, accused of the attempted assassination of President Ford, was found mentally competent today and ordered to stand trial as scheduled Dec. 15.

After hearing a unanimous report from psychiatrists and psychologists, U.S. District Judge Samuel Conti ruled she was competent and then refused to delay the trial past the previously scheduled Dec. 15 date.

After making his ruling, the judge asked Miss Moore if she understood, and she replied, "Yes, I understand."

Conti noted that one psychiatric report found that Miss Moore, a one-time FBI informant and mother of a 9-year-old boy, had "intellectual abilities above average."

Miss Moore is accused of firing a shot at President Ford outside the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco Sept. 22.

Conti set the next hearing in the case for Tuesday at 2 p.m. Defense attorney James Hewitt said he "probably" would ask for a delay in further proceedings at that time.

The reports of four psychiatrists and two psychologists who examined Miss Moore were unanimous in their opinion that she is mentally competent.

Dr. Jack Eardley, chief of the psychiatry department at the federal medical facility in Springfield, Mo., was the first witness at a hearing on the mental condition of Miss Moore, a 45-year-old former FBI informant.

The defendant underwent weeks of psychiatric testing at a federal medical facility in San Diego following her arrest outside the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco Sept. 22. She was charged with firing a pistol shot at the President as he walked from the hotel entrance.

Computers to aid appraisals

By DICK PRAUL

Property taxpayers now muttering over their 1975-76 levies which total in excess of $95 million in Santa Barbara County are going to get a "break" starting in 1976 when the county's computers go to work to assist the relatively slim force of appraisers.

The good news, says Assessor William H. Cook is that while more frequent assessments will result in more frequent increases in taxes, the resulting taxes will be on a much more equitable level for everyone.

Hitching assessment procedures to the county's data processing gear means that the average property owner can expect to get higher assessments every three years rather than perhaps double that period as has been the case in many areas.

The resulting leveling off process, according to one county official, will mean more tax equality especially for Goleta Valley, the biggest urban hive in the unincorporated area whose rows on rows of tract homes have assertedly been fair game for assessors in recent years.

County Supervisor James M. Slater said he has felt that the assessor's office has directed more reappraisals in the Goleta Valley than some other areas because it is easier to process than areas of large estates elsewhere on the South Coast.

Not everyone is happy about Cook's new plans. Many taxpayers have the fear they actually will be shelling out more tax money than under the present system of lengthy waiting periods before reassessment.

But Cook contends that ratepayers who have been at the top level of assessments in comparison with others across town, for instance, will not be in the position of paying no more than their share of the tax load. Those with the higher assessments — while appraisers were in the business of catching up with the others — have, in effect, been "making up" for those taxed less, he showed, adding it is not fair for this to continue.

Critics of present appraisal procedures point out that continuing inflation will boost property values yearly merely on the basis of inflated figures paid for comparable properties in any given area. Demand also stays far ahead of supply adding to the unpleasantness of the future tax picture. And there is the likelihood that county taxes will rise again next year if the millions in federal revenue-sharing are shut off in fiscal year 1976-77.

Huge land sale set Nov. 25

Bidding is expected "to start at $2.7 million" for the undeveloped, 300-acre Goleta Valley oceanfront land of multi-millionaire developer Said Halimi when it goes on sale Nov. 25 in Santa Barbara, a title company spokesman said Friday.

Halimi's hopes of setting up a 750-unit residential-recreational complex on the property collapsed in mid-January, 1972, after arrest of Phil Regan, ex-entertainer, on charges he sought to bribe a county supervisor to favor rezoning for the More Mesa project. County supervisors quickly voted to deny the rezoning, and Regan was sentenced to prison as a result of his exposure by Supervisor Frank J. Frost.

Sale of the property was moved from Friday to Nov. 25, according to a spokesman for the Lawyers Title Insurance Corp., on advice of the title company's legal counsel. It was explained that work was received that Tyrolian Village, Inc., under which the project was to be built, filed for bankruptcy. Headquarters for Tyrolian Village had been in Tyrolian Village, Nev.

It was also announced that foreclosure proceedings were started by Columbia University in New York after an asserted default on its $2.5 million loan to the development company.

The project envisioned by Halimi, who reportedly resides in Tehran, Iran, would have been the biggest one of its kind in county history.

After Regan's arrest and during his trial, it was revealed that a number of prominent politicians in the state, along with at least one major union official, were involved in helping the development in one way or another; although no wrong doing was alleged except in Regan's case.

However, the Board of Supervisors by a split vote in October, 1974, asked the County Grand Jury to make an attempt to question Halimi about the case, after Sheriff John W. Carpenter said he had not been able to do so. The Grand Jury was silent as to what course it ever pursued in the matter. Sheriff's officers said that when they arrested Regan emerging from a Santa Barbara restaurant, he was in company with Halimi.

Sisson announces candidacy

Dan Sisson, 38, a Santa Barbara historian, teacher and columnist announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Congress yesterday at the Lobero Theater in Santa Barbara.

Before an audience of over 450 people, from all parts of the 19th Congressional District, Sisson spoke about the critical need for new leadership in Congress. Sisson stated that he had made the decision to run for high office after his experience as a teacher in the Santa Barbara Community College.

Citing a lack of commitment among the young and a loss of faith among the middle class and elderly in America, Sisson stated that only a leader who can articulate the nation's ideals and beliefs it cherishes can help lift the country out of its present dilemma. As an American historian and author of "The American Revolution of 1800" — a book dealing with the ideals of the Founding Fathers, Sisson clearly felt he could provide that perspective.

The candidate also called for a new concept of leadership in this Congressional District. He will attempt to bring together interested citizens to study the basic problems facing the District as a whole, write reports on them and educate the electorate so that basic issues will be clear to the voters on election day.

Israel gives conditions for new Geneva confab

United Press International Israel says it will agree to reopen the Geneva peace talks if Syria renews the soon-to-expire mandate of U.N. forces on the Golan Heights.

But Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin emphasized at a cabinet meeting in Jerusalem Sunday that Israel would boycott any talks attended by the Palestine Liberation Organization.

In the Sinai Desert, Egypt took possession of the Ras

Sudar oil fields Sunday under terms of the interim peace agreement with Israel.

Israel pulled out of the small oil complex 28 miles south of Suez City Friday, temporarily handing over control to the United Nations.

The official transfer to Egypt marked the first part of an Israeli withdrawal from 2,500 square miles of the western Sinai.

Rabin said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko asked Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to find out Israel's response to a Russian request to reconvene the Geneva talks with the PLO present.

Rabin said Israel told Kissinger it was willing to reconvene the talks after Syria renews the mandate for 1,250 U.N. troops patrolling the cease-fire lines on the Golan Heights. The mandate expires Nov. 30.

"In our answer we repeated and emphasized that Israel will not conduct any negotiations with the Palestine Liberation Organization," Rabin said in a communique.

The newspaper Ma'ariv reported in a dispatch from the United Nations that staff sources there said Syria was ready to extend the mandate for two to three months if Secretary General Kurt Waldheim went to Damascus to suggest the move.

At the United Nations, a spokesman for Waldheim said Sunday the secretary general was considering a Middle East trip to discuss renewing the agreement.

The Israeli communique also said a U.S. State Department position paper on the Palestinian question was inaccurate and showed "extensive bias."

The target of the Israeli displeasure was a paper delivered to a congressional committee last week by Harold Saunders, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Near Eastern Affairs.

The communique said Saunders' testimony "includes mistakes and extensive distortion from a factual and political point of view which cannot be disregarded."

Israeli political sources said the government was disturbed by Saunders' suggestion there were moderate elements in the PLO, arguing instead that the entire group was extremist.

The sources said Israeli leaders also objected to Saunders' reference to the Palestinian question as the heart of the problem. They consider refusal by the Arab nations to recognize Israel as the major stumbling block to peace.

State GOP chairman raps Reagan race

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California Republicans have been told by their state party chairman that Ronald Reagan's decision to run for President could split the party and lead to a Democratic victory in 1976.

Paul Haerle told the 10th annual convention of the California Republican League Saturday that "come Thursday in Washington, we'll have to bite the bullet. Most assuredly, Governor Reagan's announcement will be a decision to run against President Ford."

The former California governor will announce his campaign plans Thursday in Washington, D.C.

Haerle, former Reagan Administration staff member, last summer joined the Ford campaign. He said he could not think of a better place to discuss the party troubles he anticipates than the league convention.

Haerle attacked various "myths" he said had been perpetrated by Reagan.

One was "the myth that the governor is just now deciding to run for President." Haerle said Reagan long ago had made up his mind to run.

Another myth, said Haerle, was that "the office seeks the man. I've never yet seen an office that seeks the man."

A third myth, he said, was Reagan's assertion that a primary battle "won't be decisive. How the hell do you win in November when you repudiate your incumbent President in August?"

New language reform plan told for Spain

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon has announced new language reforms in an attempt to head off political conflict in Spain after the death of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Franco, who has withered to 80 pounds during his 31-day battle against death, was reported slightly improved but in "very grave" condition as he fought back from his third operation in less than two weeks.

Juan Carlos, Franco's successor who became interim head of state Oct. 31, issued a decree Sunday removing Franco's restrictions on the use of regional languages.

It was clearly a move to win popular support and ease national tensions in preparation for the post-Franco period.

La Paz Hospital announced the 82-year-old Franco had improved from "the gravest" to "very grave" condition. His withered body was kept alive only by machines, touching off growing debate on the ethics of such artificial life support.

The Roman Catholic newspaper Ya asked in a front page editorial Sunday if "it was really necessary to stretch to that point the scientific possibilities of fighting death and causing new traumas for the chief of state."

The language decree, which took effect immediately, legalized the use of regional languages in newspapers, broadcasts, meetings and provincial and municipal councils.

In his 36 years of authoritarian rule, Franco had forbidden official use of such languages, creating widespread dissension among Spain's regional populations.

The newspaper Nuevo Diario praised the prince and the decree in an editorial containing the words "democracy, freedom, justice" in various regional languages.

It said the new law "will do more for the unity of the nation than all the pompous speeches of past years."

The decree was Juan Carlos' second attempt in two weeks to defuse minority unrest.

Last week he called for a commission to study ways to return a measure of economic autonomy to the Basques of northern Spain.

FBI in massive search for possible fugitive

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI) — The FBI directed a house-to-house and aircraft search Sunday for two men — one possibly a fugitive American Indian Movement leader — who fled from a shootout with police. The common-law wife of one of the men and three other persons were arrested.

The arrest of Darlene Pearl Nichols, 20, Pine Ridge, S.D., added to conjecture that one of the men sought was her common-law husband, Dennis Banks, 38. Banks was wanted for failing to appear for sentencing Aug. 5 on rioting and assault charges involving a 1973 demonstration at the Custer, S.D. County Courthouse.

One of the vehicles seized by state police was a motor home owned by actor Marlon Brando, a Portland newspaper, the Oregonian, reported. The paper attributed the report to the FBI, but a spokesman for that agency would not confirm or deny the Oregonian story.

Brando, an outspoken advocate of Indian causes, has appeared at trials involving AIM members. Last year he gave 40 acres of his Southern California land to AIM.

Banks and Leonard Peltier, 31, wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for attempted murder of a police officer in Milwaukee, Wis., in 1974, was listed earlier by the FBI as believed to be traveling in either a mobile home or a white station wagon.

The FBI said it had no assurance that the two men sought were either Banks or Peltier.

Demo candidates complete liberal 'obstacle course'

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Democratic presidential candidates have completed the cross-country obstacle course the party's liberal faction set up to begin the process of selecting its 1976 champion.

The results will not be known until next year when the candidates seek delegates in the presidential primaries and state conventions. But it seems certain some of the 10 announced Democratic candidates helped themselves and others lost ground in what one observer called "the silent primaries" — the five regional candidate forums that ended Sunday in Baltimore.

Six candidates spoke to crowds ranging from 700 to 1,700 during the two-day forum at Johns Hopkins University, which was sponsored by Americans for Democratic Action and other liberal Democratic elements.

The loudest applause was earned, as it was at several of the forums, by former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma. But corridor conversations focused on Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., who seemed to be the practical, as opposed to emotional, favorites.

Other participants were Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania, former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina and Sargent Shriver, the 1972 Democratic vice presidential candidate. Former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, who planned to attend, had to cancel because of a conflict with a Florida party meeting, which he took by storm.

The other announced Democrats, Sens. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., and Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, unlikely to get much backing from the party's liberal wing in any case, showed little interest in the forums, which also were held at Minneapolis, Springfield, Mass., Atlanta and Los Angeles during the last two months.

The Democrats generally avoided criticizing each other, although Udall said Saturday he would "do my politics elsewhere" if Wallace "takes over this party."

Sanford, asked about a national ticket with the Alabama man, said "there is no way I could support a ticket like that because there is no way he can get on it."

Harris, referring to the large field seeking the nomination, replied to those who were concerned about dividing the party: "I don't see that unity makes any sense unless it is unity around issues."

The court said a judge could decide time spent on psychiatric examinations could be deducted from provisions of the new federal Speedy Trial Act, which says a defendant must be brought to trial within 90 days of arrest.

Miss Moore was sent to San Diego for a two-month psychiatric evaluation.

Miss Moore, 21, daughter of San Francisco Examiner President Randolph Hearst, underwent a similar evaluation in San Mateo County Jail in nearby Redwood City, where she is being held without bail on bank robbery charges.

Attorneys for the defense and prosecution have a closed-door meeting scheduled today with U.S. District Judge Oliver Carter to discuss the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals decision in the case of Sara Jane Moore, accused of trying to kill President Ford.

Attorneys confident of trial extension

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The attorneys for Patricia Hearst are confident the odds favor them — because of an appellate court decision in another case — in their attempts to get a two-month extension of her Dec. 15 trial date.

The defense legal team has said the newspaper heiress' mind is still tangled because of the "brainwashing" she underwent while with the Symbionese Liberation Army. The lawyers say they need more time to prepare their case.

High Court rules on women's rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In another victory for women's rights, the Supreme Court today struck down a Utah law that presumes a woman is incapable of working the last 12 weeks of her pregnancy and the first six weeks after giving birth.

In an unsigned opinion, the justices summarily vacated a Utah Supreme Court decision upholding the state unemployment law.

Justice William H. Rehnquist dissented. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Harry A. Blackmun said the Court should have heard oral arguments in the case rather than summarily reverse the Utah court.

The opinion relied on a two-year-old Supreme Court ruling that mandatory maternity leave laws are unconstitutional unless they are applied to women on an individual basis. Presuming that all pregnant women are incapable of working after a certain period in their pregnancy denies them rights to due process of law, the Court said.

The Utah law mandated an end to unemployment benefits after the 24th week of pregnancy until six weeks after giving birth, presuming women are physically incapable of working during that period. Unemployment benefits are paid only to those persons able to work who cannot find jobs.

In striking down the law and calling for individualized determination when a woman is unable to work, the Court said: "It cannot be doubted that a substantial number of women are fully capable of working well into their last trimester of pregnancy and of resuming employment shortly after childbirth."

The challenge to the Utah law was brought by Mary Ann Turner, with the help of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Reagan raps UN resolution

CHICAGO (UPI) — Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan Sunday criticized the United Nations' anti-Zionist resolution and said the United States should "go home and sit for a while" if the world body continues such actions.

Reagan, who is expected to announce his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination Thursday in Washington, termed the UN resolution "a stupid and vicious and outrageous" act and urged a reassessment of the United States' UN policy.

"If they're going to continue to play that game, I think we should go home and sit for a while," Reagan told some 1,900 persons at a meeting of the International Sanitary Supply Association.

Reagan said the UN members who approved the resolution represent only 10 per cent of the world's population.

The unannounced presidential contender also said he is viewing Alabama Gov. George Wallace, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, with "great pleasure."

Ford's video testimony could be aid to defense

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — President Ford's unprecedented testimony that he heard no "click" when Lynette Fromme thrust a pistol at him could help the defense fight the charge she attempted to kill the chief executive, her attorney says.

Attorney John Virga was to make his opening statement to the eight-woman, four-man jury and call the first of his "live" witnesses today in the trial of Miss Fromme, 27, a red-haired follower of mass murderer Charles Manson.

Ford's videotaped testimony that he "didn't hear a click and he didn't hear her say anything" could help counter prosecution witnesses who said they heard the hammer of Miss Fromme's pistol hit the firing pin, Virga said.

He characterized Ford's testimony a "very favorable" to the defense.

A key issue in the case has been whether Miss Fromme, 27, intended to kill Ford. Some of the prosecution's 37 witnesses testified they heard a metallic click as the weapon

Eldridge Cleaver tells embassy he will return to U.S. Tuesday

PARIS (UPI) — Former Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver went to the U.S. embassy today and told officials he will return to the United States Tuesday after seven years in exile.

Cleaver reportedly has decided to surrender to American authorities.

He is wanted in California for violation of parole terms and for prosecution on assault charges in connection with a shootout with Oakland, Calif., police.

Cleaver appeared at the embassy consular section this morning and asked for an identity paper so he could enter the United States because he has no U.S. passport.

"Cleaver identified himself to the consul and was then given a paper which is usually given to people who have no passports and who are going back to the United States," embassy information officer Burnett Anderson said.

Cleaver's wife Kathleen, who does have a U.S. passport, accompanied him to the embassy.

Cleaver, 40, fled the United States in November, 1968, and settled in Algeria to avoid imprisonment for violating terms of parole and prosecution on assault charges in connection with a shootout with Oakland, Calif., police. In the April 6, 1968, incident, Black Panther Bobby Hutton, 17, was killed. Cleaver was paroled by the California Adult Authority in 1966 after he served nine years of a 13-year sentence for assault to commit rape, assault to commit murder and assault with a deadly weapon.

The Adult Authority revoked his parole but a superior court judge in Fairfield, Calif., ordered that Cleaver be released on grounds his confinement was politically motivated. The decision was reversed by an appellate court.

The 6-foot-2 Arkansas native has traveled widely since fleeing abroad, including Cuba and the Soviet Union. He has most recently lived in France where several months ago he announced he had entered the fashion business with a revolutionary design for men's clothing.

He has spent 19 years of his life on probation, parole and inside California prisons, including San Quentin. He is the author of "Soul on Ice" and "Post Prison Writings."

The Black Panther party was the most influential of the U.S. black power movements in the mid-60s. Founded in Oakland in 1966, it formed armed patrols to protect blacks against alleged police brutality.

It adopted the panther as its symbol because, although it does not normally attack first, it fights to the death if attacked.

ABA reviews candidates for Douglas replacement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some time this week, the American Bar Association will tell Attorney General Edward Levi how the legal profession views the qualifications of 11 men who are candidates to replace William O. Douglas on the Supreme Court.

ABA recommendations have no binding effect on President Ford, who may select someone not on the list. But the Senate will seek an ABA recommendation on whoever is nominated.

A committee of 12 ABA members, plus five other lawyers, met Sunday to review the list Levi gave it Thursday. The panel had planned to send Levi its recommendations early this week, but Sunday's meeting took longer than expected and the report may take until the end of the week to prepare.

Presumably the committee was voting on which of three categories it would place each candidate. The categories are "not qualified," "qualified" and "meeting high standards of judicial temperament, integrity and competence."

Even a vote of "qualified" would be a setback for a candidate hopeful of getting the nomination because it would mean the ABA is not enthusiastic about the person.

The list is known to include two politicians, Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich. and Rep. Charles Wiggins, R-Calif. It also includes Solicitor General Robert Bork and several judges on U.S. courts of appeals.

Highway officials work to find jobs for jobless

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — In 1947, the Legislature passed the Collier-Burns Highway Act which increased the gasoline tax by a cent and a half per gallon and kicked off one of the most ambitious road building programs in history.

The network of sweeping California freeways became the envy of road builders around the world.

Now, nearly three decades later, state highway officials are feverishly trying to find jobs for soon-to-be-unemployed workers.

Because of severe budget cutbacks, the financially troubled Department of Transportation must reduce its workforce by 2,800 employees.

But Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, co-author of the bill which gave birth to the highway building bonanza, says he still hopes that the state's road building program will survive and continue.

"People are again speaking up for highways, realizing that they have to complete the systems they now have," said Collier, widely known as the "father of the California freeway system."

One plan to pump new life into the ailing freeway system would raise the gasoline tax from seven to nine cents on the gallon. It is stalled in the Assembly and has been opposed by the state administration.

The Transportation Department plans to spend in the range of $200 million for new roads next year — the lowest expenditure since 1954.

Before World War II, there was only one small freeway in Southern California. During the last three decades California has spent $15.3 billion to construct 4,400 miles of freeways.

Collier believes that the importance of the state highway and freeway system will not diminish.

"The mass transit system is a long way off and it is not practical in most parts of California," said Collier, the dean of the legislature. "I expect to see a great development in buses, which will still need the highways."

In March, Business and Transportation Secretary Donald Burns hinted that the newly installed Brown administration intended to change present laws relating to the state gasoline tax and "open-up the special cookie jar that highways have had for the past half-century."

He also said that Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. endorsed increased spending for public transit.

Last July, a long-awaited draft of the California transportation plan leaned heavily on environmental, social and economic goals as opposed to outright road building.

One alternative would be to expand interregional and urban bus systems, provide for expansion of rail systems in the Los Angeles and San Diego areas.

Animal control workers find wall-to-wall cats

CHICAGO (UPI) — The eight men from the animal control center had their work cut out for them at the Ruth Ziemann home.

"There were cats in the cupboards and cats in the refrigerator," said Gene Geriali, the supervisor who led the raid to round up 96 cats.

"The first floor was wall-to-wall cats," he said. "The cats were tame, but once we picked up the first 10, the rest got hip and there were cats flying all over the place."

"It took us two hours to clean out the house," he said.

He said the house was "unbelievable" with "green mold on everything, the dressers, tables and in the kitchen all the drapes were ripped."

Workers used three trucks to haul away the cats Friday night.

"I think we missed a few, there were probably over a 100 cats. It was certainly the biggest cat roundup in the history of the dog pound," Geriali said.

But that statement stirred some debate.

Not so, said Allen Glisch, manager of the Animal Welfare League.

"About three months ago," Glisch said "we took out 146 cats from a woman's home."

Glisch said most of the cats confiscated Friday probably would have to be destroyed because "it's just too hard to find good homes for cats."

A neighbor who asked not to be identified described Miss Ziemann, 54, "as a nice quiet woman." Miss Ziemann lived with her mother until her mother died eight years ago. "After her mother died," the neighbor said, "she didn't have anyone and about four years ago she got a cat, then she got another and another until the house was filled with cats."

Douglas in hospital in good condition

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Retired U.S. Justice William O. Douglas was reported in good condition today at Good Samaritan Hospital, where he was receiving physical therapy for the effects of a stroke suffered a year ago.

Douglas, 77, was admitted to the hospital Sunday for continued rehabilitation and because he was experiencing discomfort, a hospital spokesman said.

Douglas was in "good condition and good spirits," according to Dr. Joseph Paquet, the justice's long-time physician.

Roxann Miller, spokeswoman for the hospital, said of Douglas' admission: "It's nothing urgent, it's not an emergency." She said he had arranged for the treatment.

Douglas flew here from Washington with his son, William Jr. The justice's wife, Cathleen, remained in the capital.

Paquet said Douglas was pleased with the "team approach" used in Good Samaritan's nationally known stroke care program, directed by Dr. John Kennedy.

Miss Miller said Douglas would probably be released from the hospital before the maximum treatment time of four or five weeks.

Douglas suffered a stroke Dec. 31, 1974. It largely deprived him of the use of his left arm and leg.

Nation's weather

United Press International
Scattered rain and snow roamed the western portion of the nation early today.

Rain skipped from Southern California through the Pacific Northwest and inland through the intermountain region and the northern Rockies. Snow dusted the higher mountain elevations and a few locally heavy snowfalls were reported.

Moderate snows at Livingston, Mont., brought the snow-depth there to 11 inches by early today.

Travelers' advisories were posted for heavy snows in western Oregon and the Cascade and Siskiyou mountains. Clear, mild weather was the rule over most of the remainder of the nation.

Several record high temperatures were reported Sunday.

A 69-degree reading at Flagstaff, Ariz., broke the previous record of 66 degrees set in 1929.

Other records included a 75 at Grand Island, Neb., a 76 at Scottsbluff, Neb., and a 60 at Muskegon, Mich.

Early morning temperatures today ranged from 20 degrees at Evanston, Wyo., to 72 at Brownsville, Tex.

Dispute develops over mechanical heart pump

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is ready to start using a mechanical heart pump on some hopelessly ill heart patients but a dissenting government scientist says it is premature and could be fatal.

The mechanical pump, which has been tested in animals, would be implanted while the patient's heart attempts to restore its natural pumping power. As the patient's heart goes back to work, the mechanical pumping would diminish and then the device removed.

Dr. Peter Frommer, associate director for cardiology at the Heart and Lung Institute of the National Institute of Health, said the pumps may be used on a small number of persons who are already on heart-lung machines.

But Dr. Stephen Bruck, a program director for biomaterials at the institute, said the device is unfit for human use and may kill some patients.

"It's very likely a substantial fraction of these patients will die, but it's very likely all of them would die without the device," Frommer said Sunday.

But he added, "We have every reason to believe no patient will die because of the device, and we hope and anticipate that some will live because of the device."

Bruck, who said his dissent may cost him his job, said the experimental use has been cleared for the Texas Heart Institute in Houston and Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston.

"Doing so would surely result in premature death for some unfortunate individuals who are selected for these experiments," Bruck said.

"The blood pump is made from commercial materials of unknown composition that are not compatible with human blood," he said.

Bruck said experiments with some animals were inconclusive, none had been conducted on humans, and "this device should not be tested in humans at this time."

Bruck warned there was a possibility small plastic fibers might come loose from the pump, enter the bloodstream and lodge in the brain or kidney, perhaps fatally, as has occurred in animal experiments.

But Frommer said the type of pump approved for experimental use has not had this kind of incident in animals.

Bruck has said the institute is bent on constructing an artificial heart instead of developing heart valves and other practical lifesaving implant devices.

He said that because he took his dissent to newsmen he expects to be disciplined and possibly fired. He said he already has been reprimanded for behavior "incompatible with your purported stature and credibility as a scientist."

Last home worries about cribs

HONOLULU (UPI) — AWOL soldier Veto Baker, 27, the last American to leave South Vietnam, is home. And he worries about baby cribs.

Baker, who went absent without official leave to stay with his family, arrived during the weekend with his common-law and pregnant wife, Mai, and their three children.

"He said the children always slept on the floor back in Vietnam," his aunt, Libby Mendonca, said Sunday.

"He was afraid the children would think the cribs were cages."

Baker, his wife and children are confined in the same room equipped with two beds and three cribs at Tripler Army Medical Center.

Sunday, his first full day on American soil and in his home state, was spent undergoing medical tests. One of his children has a minor skin infection.

Baker went AWOL in 1972 when his superiors refused him permission to marry Mai and take her to America. The new Saigon regime expelled him earlier this month and allowed him to take his family.

An Army spokesman said Baker, with 15 months left on his Army enlistment, would be allowed to remain in Hawaii — contrary to earlier reports he would be transported to the mainland.

Disposition of his case would be made after he completes his medical examinations.

Largest bookmaking bust in history

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies raided bars, restaurants and gas stations in 22 communities, arrested 55 persons and confiscated $10,000 this weekend in what was termed "the largest bookmaking bust in county history."

Lt. Louis Portesi said the bookmaking ring took in an estimated $750,000 per week.

The raid followed a two-month investigation in 22 unincorporated communities in the southern area of the county.

Also confiscated were betting slips, bookmaking cards and 21 vehicles deputies said were used to transport betting equipment.

Bail for the suspects ranged from $500 to $1,500. They were charged on suspicion of conspiracy to commit bookmaking.

Travel trailers gather at Lopez

Lake Lopez was the destination of Lompoc Travel Trailer Club last weekend on their November outing. The near-perfect weather brought a good turnout. All engaged in games, hiking, gathering aluminum tab tops, and "just conversation." Enough tab tops have already been collected to purchase a picture for the hospital annex.

Following the Saturday potluck dinner, members relaxed around a big beach fire, with popcorn as a snack. Chick and Dottie Chilson manned the griddles for the Sunday pancake breakfast. A business session followed.

Present for the weekend were Walt and Eleanor Livingston, Bob and Sally McCarthy and son Rodney, Vern and Charlotte Moss, Pete and Kathryn Smith, Ira and Dottie Summers, Harold and Ada Edman, Jim and Arlene Morris. Guests of the Morris' Saturday evening were the Herb Smiths and Hank Grahams. Also coming for the Saturday potluck dinner were the Robert Careys, Alice Jauncy and Grace Kosanek.

Dear Abby

Wife hopes Salt Peter will put out flame

DEAR ABBY: Where can a person buy salt peter? Do I need a doctor's prescription to get it? Is it tasteless? And does it do what they say it does to a man's sex urge?

You can't send me a personal reply because my husband opens all the mail. Please answer in your column as soon as possible as I don't know how much longer I can put up with this. Thank you.

ALL WORE OUT IN L.A. DEAR ALL: Salt peter can be purchased at a pharmacy. It is technically termed "potassium nitrate," and I am informed that no prescription is required. But because it's used in making explosives, some pharmacists refuse to sell it to minors.

It tastes like table salt, but if you expect it to reduce a man's sexual appetite, you could be disappointed.

pect it to reduce a man's sexual appetite, you could be disappointed.

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading your column for years, and around holiday time someone always asks, "Should we go to his mother's or to my mother's for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner?" and your answer is always, "Why not alternate?"

Abby, my husband and I struggled with that problem for years, and we resolved it according to your suggestion. Both sets of parents lived nearby, and it seemed the only fair thing to do. So for 22 years, we spent Thanksgiving and Christmas in parents' homes instead of our own.

It never dawned on us until this year — as our children are ready to strike out on their own — that we never developed our own holiday traditions. We always went to Grandma's for the holidays. She insisted on doing all the cooking herself — and then she complained for months about how much work it was and how tired she got. When we, her daughters and daughters-in-law, asked if we could bring something for the dinner, she wouldn't hear of it. When we brought food without asking her, she refused to serve it, so we finally gave up.

I realize now what a high price I've paid over the years for peace in the family. I wish I hadn't. Abby, please urge young marrieds to dare to have their own holiday celebrations in their own homes. Suggest that they invite their parents and grandparents, who might even be relieved to be finally free of the burden of entertaining three generations.

Massage parlor fight grows statewide

FREMONT, Calif. (UPI) — The campaign started here by citizens rubbed the wrong way by massage parlors is building into a statewide movement.

Rollin Cunningham, Fremont real estate man and spokesman for Citizens Against Massage Parlors (CAMP), said Sunday he has been getting queries from all over California on how to apply pressures against the parlors.

"Massage parlors are obviously not a problem limited to Fremont," he said. "Our pickets have proved a powerful weapon that has parlors operators worried all over the area."

Three angry wives rousted masseuses and patrons at several parlors in search of their husbands early last week after CAMP members wrote down license numbers of cars parked outside the studios.

A steady stream of pickets has patrolled local parlors since.

The group is also making plans for bus trips to the state capitol in Sacramento in January to push for legislation to return control of what goes on the parlors in local government. The state now has that power.

"We're going to tell the legislators that if they want fun and games in Sacramento's backyard, that's all right. Just give Fremont and other cities the right to keep it out of theirs," said Cunningham.

Aids victims after crash

LAGUNA BEACH (UPI) — A 58-year-old Glendale man managed to crawl from the wreckage of a light plane and walk two miles over rough terrain late Sunday to get help for three people who were trapped inside the demolished craft.

Robert Norman was a passenger in the plane which became disoriented in heavy fog and crashed at 8:30 p.m. into a brush covered hill in the Laguna Niguel area two miles west of Laguna Beach. He was reported in satisfactory condition with minor injuries at Mission Community Hospital.

Investigators said the pilot of the craft, Dr. Arthur Basham, 32, and his wife, Marilyn, 29, were airlifted to Orange County Medical Center with minor injuries. Another passenger, Sherry Slater, 28, was treated at Mission Community Hospital and released. They were all from Garden Grove.

presidential candidacy. This week it may well be Ronald Reagan.

Reagan, who spoke in Oklahoma and Illinois during the weekend, said he would make an important announcement in Washington Thursday, presumably his decision whether to challenge President Ford for the Republican presidential nomination.

In his weekend speeches, the former California governor said, among other things, he would be willing to have a black or a woman as a running mate although he himself would not accept the vice presidential nomination.

He also said it is time to have a woman Supreme Court justice, although the prime requisite for a place on the court should be quality rather than sex.

Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, former Treasury Secretary John Connally and Commerce Secretary-designate Elliot Richardson also were speaking out on GOP politics, but most of the political action was by and among Democrats.

Wallace, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," said that if elected president he would propose a constitutional amendment to let people choose where to send their children to school.

He also would not rule out a third party candidacy, said he is taking royalties from campaign merchandise bearing his likeness because he needs the money to pay medical bills, and said he would do most of his campaigning by radio and television.

The last of five Democratic candidate gatherings held across the country by liberals ended Sunday in Baltimore. The six candidates who attended had nothing bad to say about one another — just about Ford administration economics.

In terms of emotional appeal, Fred Harris of Oklahoma was the most popular, as he has been at previous such meetings. But most of the hard political talk centered on Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona and Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana who seemed to be the practical favorites.

British police seal off docks to search ships for arms cache

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI) — Police investigating possible international links to a 400-pound cache of arms have sealed off Southampton's eastern docks and begun a stem-to-stern search of ships, including the Queen Elizabeth II.

Detectives said they believed the explosives arsenal found in a basement storeroom Friday belonged to the Irish Republican Army.

Police sealed off Southampton's eastern docks today in an effort to determine if the IRA was using transatlantic ships to smuggle in arms for distribution elsewhere in England.

Army experts and police boarded the luxury liner Queen Elizabeth II late Sunday, forcing open every locker in the crew's quarters.

Detectives refused to say if they found any explosives aboard the Cunard liner. The ship has been docked in Southampton for three weeks for an annual refurbishing between its regular Southampton to New York voyages.

The explosives were found in the cellar of a 15-story apartment block near the center of this English Channel port 80 miles southwest of London. In a series of raids, police detained 42 persons, 30 of them Irish, for questioning about the explosives.

Forensic tests will be conducted to determine if the explosives were part of the same batch used in a series of London bombings that have killed six persons and injured more than 90 since August.

The amount of explosives discovered would be enough to manufacture 80 bombs similar to those used in London, police said.

Police have pointed to Southampton as the IRA's explosives center since an IRA bomb factory was discovered here last December. The six persons inside the factory escaped after shooting a policeman in the stomach.

Under the anti-IRA prevention of terrorism laws, suspects can be held without charge for up to seven days.

Archbishop sees little chance of women priests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the nation's Roman Catholic bishops doesn't "see any development on the horizon" that will lead to the ordination of women to the Catholic priesthood.

Cincinnati Archbishop Joseph Bernardin, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, made that assessment in an interview with UPI Sunday on the eve of the annual fall meeting of the bishops' conference.

Bernardin said he planned to address the question of the woman's role in the Church in speaking to the bishops at today's opening session of the three-day meeting.

Before the sessions close, the bishops are expected to issue a major pastoral plan of action aimed at the abortion issue, debate and issue a statement on the nation's housing crisis, and speak to the present state of Catholic-Jewish relations.

The issue of women priests is not immediately before the conference but has been raised by the calling of the "Women in the Future Priesthood Now" conference in Detroit in two weeks.

Organizers of that conference have invited bishops to attend the meeting to provide the expected 1,200 participants an "episcopal perspective" on the issue.

Bernardin said Sunday the bishops would not send any observers to the meeting but that the "conference wants to have dialogue. ... We are open to the leaders of the conference sharing the results" with the bishops.

"In our judgment," he said, "the problem is theological or doctrinal. The precise question is: Was the exclusion of women from the priesthood by Christ determined simply by the cultural situation which existed in His day? Or did Christ exclude women for other reasons, so that changes in culture, et cetera, would have a bearing on the question?"

At the same time, he said the question still is open for "theological scrutiny."

Clutch kick sinks Conqs

By SCOTT OSTLER

Ronnie Garcia, the new mayor of Lompoc, may someday have a difficult time convincing his children that he was once a big football hero.

At 5-4 and 120 pounds, wearing horn-rimmed glasses and shoes that don't match, Ronnie somehow doesn't look like a football hero.

Luckily, he has about 10,000 witnesses who can attest to the fact that he singlefootedly won the Valley's most important football game of the year, and the most exciting City Series game ever, by kicking a 33-yard field goal.

With those 10,000 fans screaming over his shoulder, and the fate of an entire season for two teams resting on his kick, and the clock running out, it's a wonder that Garcia was able to even remember which foot to kick with.

But he did, and Lompoc beat Cabrillo 17-16 in a game that Garcia and Lompoc fans will always remember, and that Ed Knowles and Cabrillo fans will try to forget.

Lompoc coach Mike Warren summed up the game nicely when he said, "For pure drama and for great plays, it was the most exciting high school game I've ever seen."

It took an amazing sequence of events, including a fatal mathematical miscalculation by Conq coach Knowles, to set up Garcia's kick.

The Conqs started the sequence by scoring a TD early in the fourth quarter on a perfectly-executed halfback pass from Andre McGant to Wayne Brown. It came on third-and-seven at the Lompoc 16. McGant lofted the pass beautifully over defender Bruce Nix and Brown made a pro-style catch, dragging his heels just inside the back chalk line.

That gave Cabrillo a 15-14 lead. A one-point conversion here would be of no value. A two-point conversion would give the Conqs a three-point lead and protect them from losing by a Lompoc field goal.

Knowles signaled for his team to kick. "I screwed up," said Knowles. "It's going to haunt me for a long time. I was thinking ahead during the drive, but somehow I miscalculated our points. I had it in my mind that the kick was the way to go. When we made the kick and I saw the scoreboard, I thought something was wrong ... I take full blame for it. It's going to be something I'm going to have to live with."

Oddly, none of the Cabrillo assistant coaches on the field or in the press box, nor any of the players, alerted Knowles before it was too late.

But even that two-point lead looked safe when Conq safety Tom Purvis intercepted a Lompoc pass on the next series and returned it 25 yards to the Lompoc 20. The Braves held and took over on downs, then Lompoc couldn't move the ball either and had to punt back to the Conqs with 3:54 left.

Then came Lompoc's big break. On third-and-three at the Cabrillo 43, Conq halfback Ron Carney appeared to have enough yards for a first down, but fumbled when he was hit by Rick Walker and then by Tim Binning, who stripped the ball loose from Carney's arms. Rick Beltran recovered for Lompoc at mid-field.

The Braves had 2:17 to work some magic. On fourth-and-10, Chuck Van Allen hit Tony Guest at the Cabrillo 31 for a do-or-die first down.

Two plays later Van Allen hit Guest in the end zone, but Conq safety Wayne Brown jarred the ball loose for an incompletion.

And two plays later, Lompoc faced another fourth-and-10, and again Van Allen nailed Guest with a pass at the 11 for another super clutch first down.

With 22 seconds on the clock, Van Allen hit Guest again, but the Braves were called for illegal procedure penalty, which stopped the clock. The officials walked the ball back to the Lompoc 16, then signaled for the clock to start again.

As Garcia dashed onto the field, the Braves huddled, unaware that the clock was moving. Finally Steve McMillian, the place-kick holder, saw that the clock had re-started and yelled for the team to line up.

The ball was snapped with two seconds on the clock. The line blocking, the snap, the hold, and the kick were all perfect.

But a penalty flag was down. There was a period of confusion before an official finally raised his arms to signal that the field goal was good. The penalty was for roughing the kicker.

The game will go down as a classic. There was at least one big, big play per quarter. For instance:

- Ron Carney's 44-yard TD sprint down the sideline in the first quarter. Joe Culley, who earlier had kicked a 26-yard field goal, missed the PAT kick.
- Calvin Boler's 42-yard gain on a pass from Van Allen in the second quarter, bringing the Braves within range of their

The Lompoc Braves travel 175 miles next Friday to open the CIF 3-A playoffs against the Crescenta Valley Falcons. The game will be played at Glendale High in Glendale, at Moyse Field.

Lompoc coach Mike Warren can tell you all about that field. It's where he played as a high school star at Glendale High.

Crescenta Valley won the Foothill League and was ranked sixth in the last CIF 3-A football poll.

The winner Friday plays the winner of the Damien-Arlington game.

Santa Maria will host Verbum Dei.

THE FOOT that put the Braves into the CIF playoffs here follows through on an extra-point kick Friday. The foot belongs to Ronnie Garcia (inset photo). His holder is Steve McMillian, whose alertness saved the Braves (see story at left). Garcia accounted for five points Friday.

Barry limited to 4 points; Sonics roll

United Press International

Bill Russell called it the best game the Seattle SuperSonics played all year, and Golden State's Rick Barry probably had to agree.

Barry, one of basketball's highest scorers throughout his career, was held to four points for the entire game, largely through the efforts of Bruce Seals, as Seattle ended the Warriors six game winning streak 102-98.

"I didn't really stop him because he still got his shots off, they just didn't go in," said Seals, a protege of assistant Sonic Coach Bob Hopkins at Xavier of New Orleans now playing his first season in the NBA. "I've got a lot of respect for him as a player."

Seals, who scored 20 points, was with the Utah Stars of the ABA for two seasons before coming to the Sonics and moved into the starting lineup after the season was under way.

Barry seemed to agree with Seals' assessment of his play when asked what went wrong with his shooting.

"If I could have figured it out, I probably would have adjusted accordingly, wouldn't I? It was just one of those nights," he said.

Midway through the fourth quarter, with the Sonics down 81-78, Seals replaced Talvin Skinner at forward and helped Seattle go ahead to an 88-81 lead.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Atlanta nipped New York 97-96 and Los Angeles beat Chicago 110-93.

In the only ABA game, Indiana beat St. Louis 136-114.

Hawks 97, Knicks 96

Atlanta's victory broke a 10-game Knick win streak over the Hawks dating back to the 1973-74 season and propelled the Hawks to a 7-4 record and undisputed lead of the NBA Central Division of the NBA for the first time since Nov. 28, 1973.

The Hawks were ahead 92-79 with 5:28 left when the Knicks, behind Spencer Haywood, began a 17-5 blitz of the Hawks and twice pulled within one point, the last time with 15 seconds left.

Lakers 110, Bulls 93

Guard Lucius Allen came off the bench to score 28 points in the Lakers' fourth straight win, their longest streak in two years. Allen hit 12 of 15 shots. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored just 18, but blocked eight shots and grabbed 15 rebounds. L.A. hit 56 per cent from the floor. Chicago, playing without starters Norm Van Lier and Mickey Johnson, got 31 points from Bob Love, but lost their fifth straight.

ON THE LOOSE, Lompoc's Calvin Boler heads for the goal line and a 51-yard touchdown run in the second quarter of Friday's game. Boler's big TD, his second within two minutes, put the Braves ahead 14-9. Boler passed the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the season. Giving chase above are Conqs Jim Dahlmann and Greg Holt.

NFL roundup

Cards win sudden death

United Press International

The St. Louis Cardinals almost decided to go home early Sunday, then couldn't leave without putting in an overtime form. But, with the aid of a favorable decision by the officials, it turned out to be time well spent.

A six-yard touchdown pass from Jim Hart to Mel Gray, which knotted the score at 17-17 with 20 seconds left in the fourth quarter, put the game into the sudden-death period.

St. Louis won the toss to start the overtime and elected to receive. The Cards lost their second game of the season to Dallas, 37-31, in overtime. But this time their opponent never even got a chance to touch the ball.

Terry Metcalf returned the kick from two yards deep in the end zone to the Cards' 25. Jim Otis rushed for 34 yards in the ensuing drive which moved St. Louis to the Washington 20.

From there, Jim Bakken booted a 37-yard field goal seven minutes into the period and the Cards had their revenge.

Steelers 28, Chiefs 3

Quarterback Terry Bradshaw threw for 203 yards and two touchdowns and Franco Harris rushed for 119 yards to lead Pittsburgh over Kansas City. The victory stretched the Steelers' win string to a club record seven games and put their record at 8-1. Pittsburgh thus assured itself of remaining in no worse than a tie with Cincinnati for the AFC Central lead.

Rams 16, Falcons 7

Los Angeles used three field goals by Tom Dempsey and a 13-yard touchdown pass from James Harris to Ron Jessie to beat Atlanta. The Falcons, who got inside the Los Angeles 35 only once all afternoon, kept the Rams from scoring a touchdown until early in the final period when Harris connected with Jessie for the 10th time in the game on the 13-yard scoring play.

Eagles 13, Giants 10

Horst Muhlmann, who didn't even reach the goal post on two previous attempts, kicked a 30-yard field goal with 28 seconds to play as Philadelphia ended a five-game losing streak with its victory over the Giants.

Cowboys 34, Patriots 31

Roger Staubach rattled the New England defense for three long scoring passes, two to Drew Pearson, to steer

Dallas over the Patriots.

Lions 13, Packers 10

Errol Mann kicked a 23-yard field goal with only 17 seconds left to play to give Detroit its victory over Green Bay.

Vikings 20, Saints 7

Fran Tarkenton threw three touchdown passes to lead unbeaten Minnesota over New Orleans for the Vikings' ninth straight victory. Tarkenton, who completed 25 of 39 passes for 310 yards, hit John Gilliam for scoring strikes of 33 and 13 yards and threw to Ed Marinaro for a four-yard touchdown.

Colts 52, Jets 19

Bert Jones rattled the Jets' secondary for 277 yards and three touchdown passes, one a club-record 90-yarder to Roger Carr, to help Baltimore boost its record to 5-4.

Oilers 20, Dolphins 19

Ronnie Coleman's seven-yard touchdown run with 1:11 left boosted Houston over Miami. Big defensive end Bubba Smith blocked two Garo Yepremian extra point kicks, the second coming after Miami's Don Nottingham ran three yards for a go-ahead touchdown earlier in the fourth quarter.

Broncos 27, Chargers 17

Denver stopped San Diego on the one-yard line, then marched 99 yards for the tie-breaking touchdown in the final period and Jim Turner added a 46-yard field goal to spark the Broncos' victory over the winless Chargers.

49ers 31, Bears 3

Delvin Williams ran for 106 yards, the first time a 49er has gone over the century mark this year, and Steve Spurrier, in his second straight start, directed a near flawless offense that carried San Francisco over Chicago.

Raiders 38, Browns 17

Quarterback Ken Stabler threw four touchdowns for Oakland to hand Cleveland its ninth straight defeat.

Braves run to NL title; prelims next

The Lompoc Braves cross country team ended a perfect Northern League season Saturday by winning the league meet held at Waller Park in Santa Maria.

The Braves tallied only 46 points to 63 for Righetti, their closest competitor. Both will represent the Northern League in the CIF preliminaries next Saturday at Mt. Sac.

Ed Thoma of San Luis won the individual league title with a 10:23 time.

The top Valley finisher was Cabrillo's Bob Tapia, who placed fourth overall in 10:25.

Lompoc's freshman phenomenon, Robert Nunez, paced the Brave runners and finished fifth with a 10:31 time.

"We were very up for this meet," exclaimed Lompoc Coach Joe Sciamie. "It was strictly a team effort."

Indeed the Braves' seven runners all finished in the top 23 of the 42-man race.

Of the 22 teams picked to compete in the prelims next Saturday, Lompoc will have to place in the top 10 to be chosen to go to the finals the following Saturday.

"We are inexperienced in CIF meets," stated Sciamie (only Jeff Holoubek has run in a CIF meet), "but we are looking forward to it. This will be a real challenge for the younger kids."

Lompoc finishers — Robert Nunez 5th 10:31, Scott Coe 6th 10:39, Jeff Holoubek 9th 10:46, Mike Bagwell 11th 10:47, Steve Southall 15th 10:56, Jeff Fick 21st 11:09, Howard Wallace 23rd 11:13.

Cabrillo finishers — Bob Tapia 4th 10:25, no others available.

All-league team — Thoma (SLO), Mitchell (AG), Weaver (SLO), Tapia (C), Nunez (L), Coe (L), Sheurman (R).

Ron Garcia: he earned his moment

"He works his tail off, on his own. He earned himself a moment that will last for his whole lifetime. When his moment came, man, he just kicked it."

Mike Warren, Lompoc coach, said that about Ronnie Garcia, the littlest guy in a football uniform Friday and the biggest hero.

Ronnie was still in a daze in the locker room after the game, as he was pummeled by his teammates and thrown in the shower while still in uniform.

Was he nervous before the kick?

"Either I make it or I don't," said Garcia, softly. "When he (Warren) told me to go in, I saw 12 seconds on the clock. The only thing I was worried about was getting it (the ball) down in time."

"As soon as I kicked it, I knew it was good. When I saw the (penalty) flag. I thought it was for offsides. I was so scared."

Ronnie, remember, also made good on both of his extra-point kicks in the one-point win.

He kicks soccer-style, using a wrestling shoe on his right foot. He prefers to kick barefoot, but league rules prohibit that, so the wrestling shoe is the next best thing.

A junior, Ronnie played JVs last year but didn't kick any field goals. He kicked one earlier this year, a 20-yarder against Santa Barbara. He missed his only other field goal attempt, and is 16-for-21 in PAT kicks.

As an eighth-grader and as a freshman, Garcia was the kick holder for Steve McMillian. McMillian now holds for Garcia.

A neighbor taught Ronnie to kick soccer-style after his freshman year.

Football contest

John Brockhaus of Santa Maria and Maury Sipes of 416 West North (Apt. 91) both picked perfect 12-for-12 cards to top the entrants in the Lompoc Record Football Contest.

Brockhaus will get the first place check for $20 since he picked Lompoc to win on the tie-breaker, while Sipes went with Cabrillo. Brockhaus hit the point spread on the nose, guessing 27-26.

Third place money goes to Dan Howard of Ventura, who missed just one pick and picked Lompoc to win the tie-breaker. Several other entrants missed only one game, but Howard had the closest guess on the tie-breaker.

Trevino donates winner's purse

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Lee Trevino heads for South Africa today, the cup he claimed as winner of the Mexican Golf Open tucked in his luggage, but not the prize money.

Trevino, after closing with a two-under-par 69 for a total score of 275, turned over the $8,000 check he won to a Mexican orphanage run by an American priest.

"I'll be back next year to play again, but I'll leave the cup at home," the champion cracked. "No use carrying it both ways."

Actually, Trevino admits he was lucky to get the cup at all. He leaves highly impressed with the quality of golf in the land of his ancestors.

OJ tests Bengals

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Tonight's nationally televised Buffalo Bills-Cincinnati Bengals matchup gives fans a chance to check O.J. Simpson's progress toward breaking his own astounding NFL season rushing record of 2,003 yards.

Believe it or not, at this point O.J. is ahead of his record-shattering 1973 performance by 28 yards.

Through eight games, O.J. already has amassed 1,128 yards and needs to average 146 yards in each of his six remaining games to top his 2,003 yard mark.

"O.J. gets his yards all ways," says Bengals boss Paul Brown, who's been studying Simpson in films.

Sports wire:

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Despite three startling setbacks in a row, University of Southern California is going to a bowl.

The Trojans announced Sunday that they've accepted a bid to go to the Liberty Bowl at Memphis Dec. 22.

The bowl's president announced later in the day that USC's opponent would be either Arkansas or Texas A&M, depending on the outcome of future games.

The bid was accepted by a vote of the players and coaching staff Saturday following the Trojans' 8-7 loss at Washington, USC school president John Hubbard said.

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Stockholders of the financially-ailing Virginia Squires are scheduled to meet again today to decide whether the club should continue operations or become the third American Basketball Association team this season to fold.

Norfolk businessman Van Cunningham, general partner and trustee of the club, said about a quarter of the stockholders met Sunday and pledged more cash to help keep the club afloat. He said $400,000 is needed, but declined to say how much of that figure was pledged.

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (UPI) — Roger Watson turned back a strong challenge from David Jimenez Sunday to retain his crown and take home the $16,500 first prize in the eighth annual PGA Club Professional Championship.

Watson, a club professional from Cary, N.C., sank a 21-foot putt on a sudden-death playoff hole to defeat Jimenez. He fired a 70 in the final round to overtake the Puerto Rican, who finished with a 73.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bo Belinsky's new heavyweight, Bernardo Mercado of Colombia, has made a successful pro debut.

Mercado, 207½, knocked out Henry Washington, 203, Perris, Calif., in the first round of a scheduled five-rounder Saturday night. He floored Washington twice.

Belinsky, of Honolulu, is the celebrated former playoff pitcher. The ex-lefthander pitched a no-hitter for the Los Angeles Angels in 1962.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Los Angeles Rams' owner Carroll Rosenbloom, who suffered a coronary last December, is scheduled to undergo heart surgery at Daniel Freeman Hospital today.

Rosenbloom, 67, was admitted to the hospital here Thursday afternoon.

"It's major surgery," said Rams' team physician Dr. Robert Kerlan. "But it's preventative, not to salvage a condition."

According to Kerlan, a routine angiogram examination Friday morning revealed the need for a "coronary bypass" operation, in which a vein is transplanted from the leg into the heart's circulatory system.

"It's not as serious as open heart surgery," said Kerlan. "The risk factor is comparable to an appendectomy."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Sandra Post said she watched second-round leader Sandra Haynie "go off" all day and sank a difficult 20-foot birdie putt on the final hole to put a little pressure on her.

But Miss Haynie, who had played the previous eight holes in five-over-par, sank a knee-knocking 3½-foot putt on top of Miss Post's to take the $7,000 first prize in the $50,000 Lady Jacksonville Open Sunday.

Miss Haynie began the final round four shots ahead of Hollis Stacy and five ahead of Miss Post. Miss Stacy skied to a final round of 80 but Miss Post stayed in contention all the way and was within one shot of Miss Haynie on the final hole.

Miss Post, of Boynton Beach, Fla., sank the birdie putt for a final round 73 and forced Miss Haynie, playing in the same group, to make her 3½-footer or face a playoff.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Terry Donahue, UCLA's offensive line coach, has applied for the head coaching job at Oregon State, it has been learned.

Donahue, 31, a defensive tackle on UCLA's 1966 Rose Bowl team, returned to UCLA as an assistant coach in 1971. He previously was an aide at Kansas from 1967 through 1970.

Dee Andros has resigned as the Beavers' coach.

PUYALLUP, Wash. (UPI) — Motocross champion Roger DeCoster of Belgium cinched his second straight Trans-AMA international Motocross series title with a victory Sunday at Puyallup Raceway Park.

DeCoster, 31, survived miserable weather to post second and third-place finishes in two 40-minute heats, edging his Suzuki teammate Gerrit Wolsink of Holland by one point in the overall scoring.

Intermittent rain coupled with 40-degree temperatures and some wind marred the event.

'Husker coach accuses 'Bear' of 'lockout'

United Press International Southern California and Notre Dame, as familiar to the New Year festivities as paper hats and noisemakers, will be conspicuously absent from college football's four major postseason bowl games this season...and so, too, may be second-ranked Nebraska.

Southern Cal and Notre Dame eliminated themselves from the New Year's competition Saturday when they were upset, but the Nebraska situation is intriguing.

The Cornhuskers, who annihilated Iowa State 52-0 last Saturday, are sporting a perfect 10-0 record. But, unless they defeat seventh-ranked Oklahoma next Saturday in the showdown game for the Big Eight Conference title and gain an automatic berth in the Orange Bowl, they are going to be locked out of one of the four major bowl games.

With Georgia (8-2) having been named Sunday as a surprise choice for the Cotton Bowl, it was believed that the Big Eight runnerup would be invited today to meet fifth-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl. But Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne said Sunday he had been informed by Sugar Bowl officials that they were not going to invite a Big Eight team.

Osborne said he expected the Sugar Bowl to invite Alabama and Penn State, and he accused Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant of influencing the decision of the committee. Bryant's teams have gone to seven straight postseason games without winning, and it is Osborne's contention that Bryant wanted to avoid meeting a Big Eight team, unless the game were for the national title. The only team to defeat Alabama this season was a Big Eight club, Missouri, which whipped the Crimson Tide 20-7.

Osborne said he felt the Big Eight was going to be shunned by the Sugar Bowl, and that's why after Saturday's game he had a Sugar Bowl official deliver a message to Bryant which said: "You tell that son-of-a-buck in Alabama not to duck us."

"We were hoping we could get a response—maybe stir things up," said

Results of last week's competition of the Village Country Club Men's Golf Association:

Wednesday best ball foursome — Ed Sperber, Lou Poloni, George Janatsch and Daron Katzakian were the winners with a net 55.

Thursday best ball foursome: William Schuyler, Tom Melgaard, Lee Irvine and Pat Doran teamed up to win with a net 58. Bob Barnard was individual low netter with 67.

Friday seniors best ball foursome — Coming in first with a winning net 57 was the team of Fred Bueker, Dave Ryans, Bob Smith and Dick Timmer. In second with a 59 was William Schuyler, Jack Payne, Joe DeDera and Louie Lombardi.

Saturday morning best ball foursome — John Kane, Bob Bickford, Lee Irvine and Jim Oliver came in first with a net 60. Nick Sampley captured individual honors with a net 67.

Sunday morning best ball foursome — Bernie Moulton, Ed Ganster, John Kane and Harvey Plaugher won with a net 59. Individual low netter was Jay Smith with a 69.

Saturday and Sunday best ball twosome — The team of Bob Smith and Ellis Schearing won with a net 60. In second with 63 was the team of Harvey Plaugher and Ernie White. In mixed competition, Don Chatterton and Ann Pate won with a net 62.

Osborne. "It's time this thing (Bryant's influence on bowl selections) is brought into the open."

Southern Cal accepted a bid Sunday to the Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn., on Dec. 22.

The Trojans had considered the Rose Bowl practically their private domain over the past decade. In the last nine years, Southern California went to the Rose Bowl seven times, including the last three years in a row. However, an 8-7 loss to Washington Saturday—the Trojans' third straight setback since McKay announced he was leaving after this season to take the head coaching job with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers of the National Football League—eliminated the Trojans from Pacific Eight Conference contention.

Notre Dame, which played in one of the four major bowl games in five of the last six seasons, was knocked out of contention by a slippery halfback named Tony Dorsett, who rushed for a school record 303 yards in leading Pittsburgh to a 34-20 victory.

The Irish, who most likely would have been invited to the Cotton Bowl had they beaten the Panthers, aren't expected to be asked anywhere now. Pitt, in the meantime, accepted a berth in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., on Dec. 26. The Panthers' opponent has not been named.

Florida, Maryland, Colorado and North Carolina State also were invited over the weekend to participate in post-season action. Florida (8-2) will meet Maryland (7-2-1) in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 29; Colorado (8-2) was invited to play in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Dec. 27 while North Carolina State (7-3-1), despite a 21-21 tie with Duke on Saturday, was selected to play in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta Dec. 31.

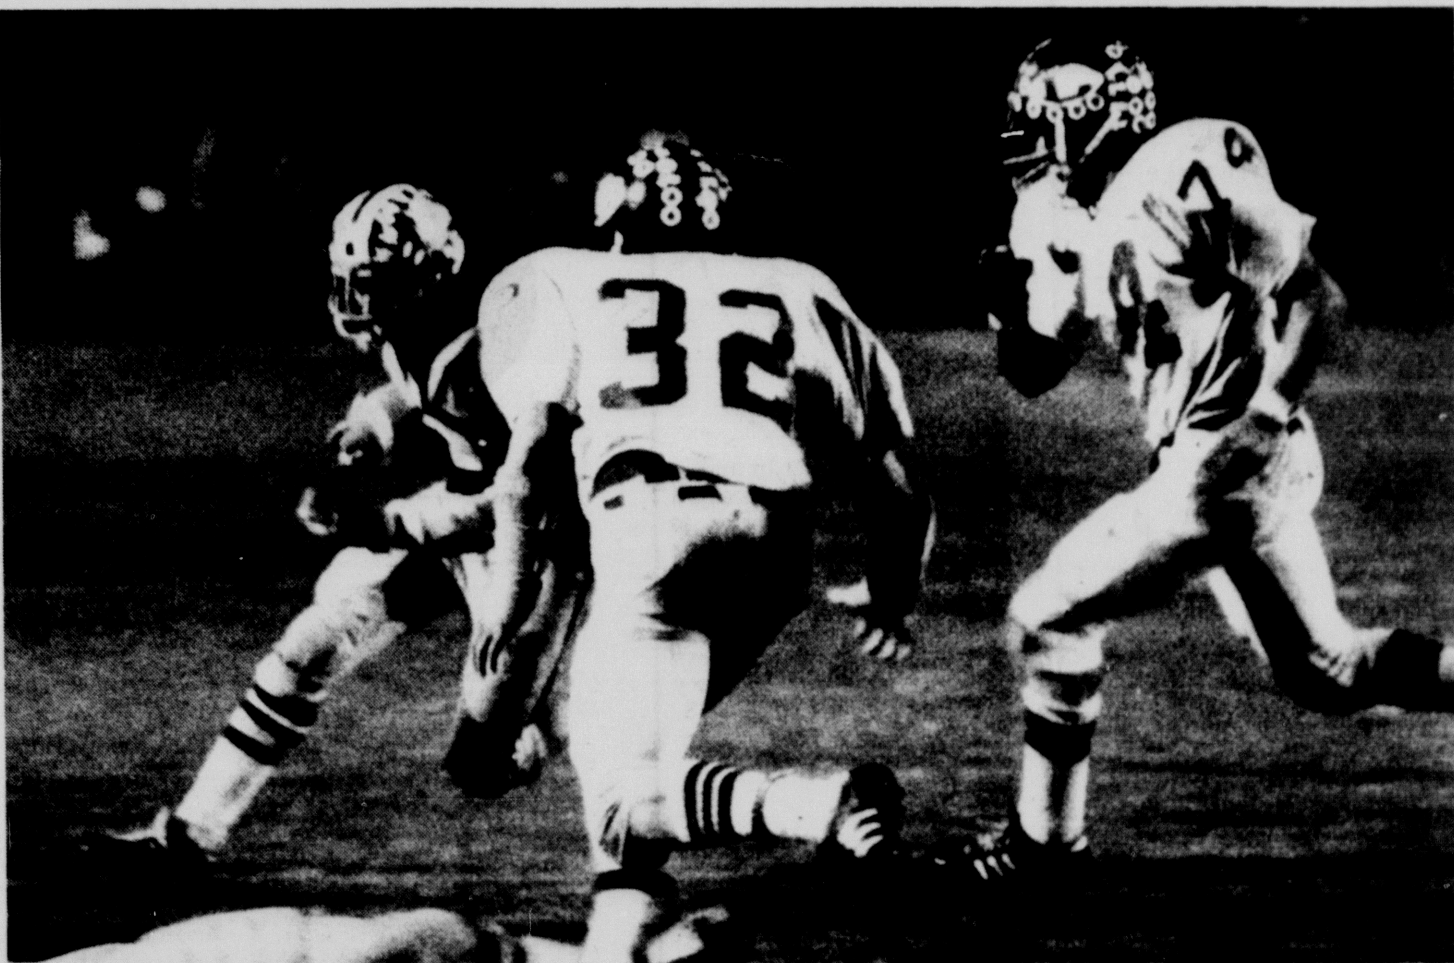

Colorado, which edged Kansas 24-21 Saturday, will meet either Texas A&M or Texas in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl. Texas A&M, unbeaten in nine games, is the current favorite to win the SWC and become the Cotton Bowl host, but the Aggies still must face Texas and Arkansas, both of whom are in contention for the SWC title.

The Orange Bowl will be filled next Saturday when top-ranked Ohio State meets fourth-ranked Michigan for the Big Ten title and Nebraska takes on Oklahoma for the Big Eight crown. The winner of the Ohio State-Michigan clash, of course, goes to the Rose Bowl and the loser will go to the Orange Bowl where it will meet the winner of the Nebraska-Oklahoma clash.

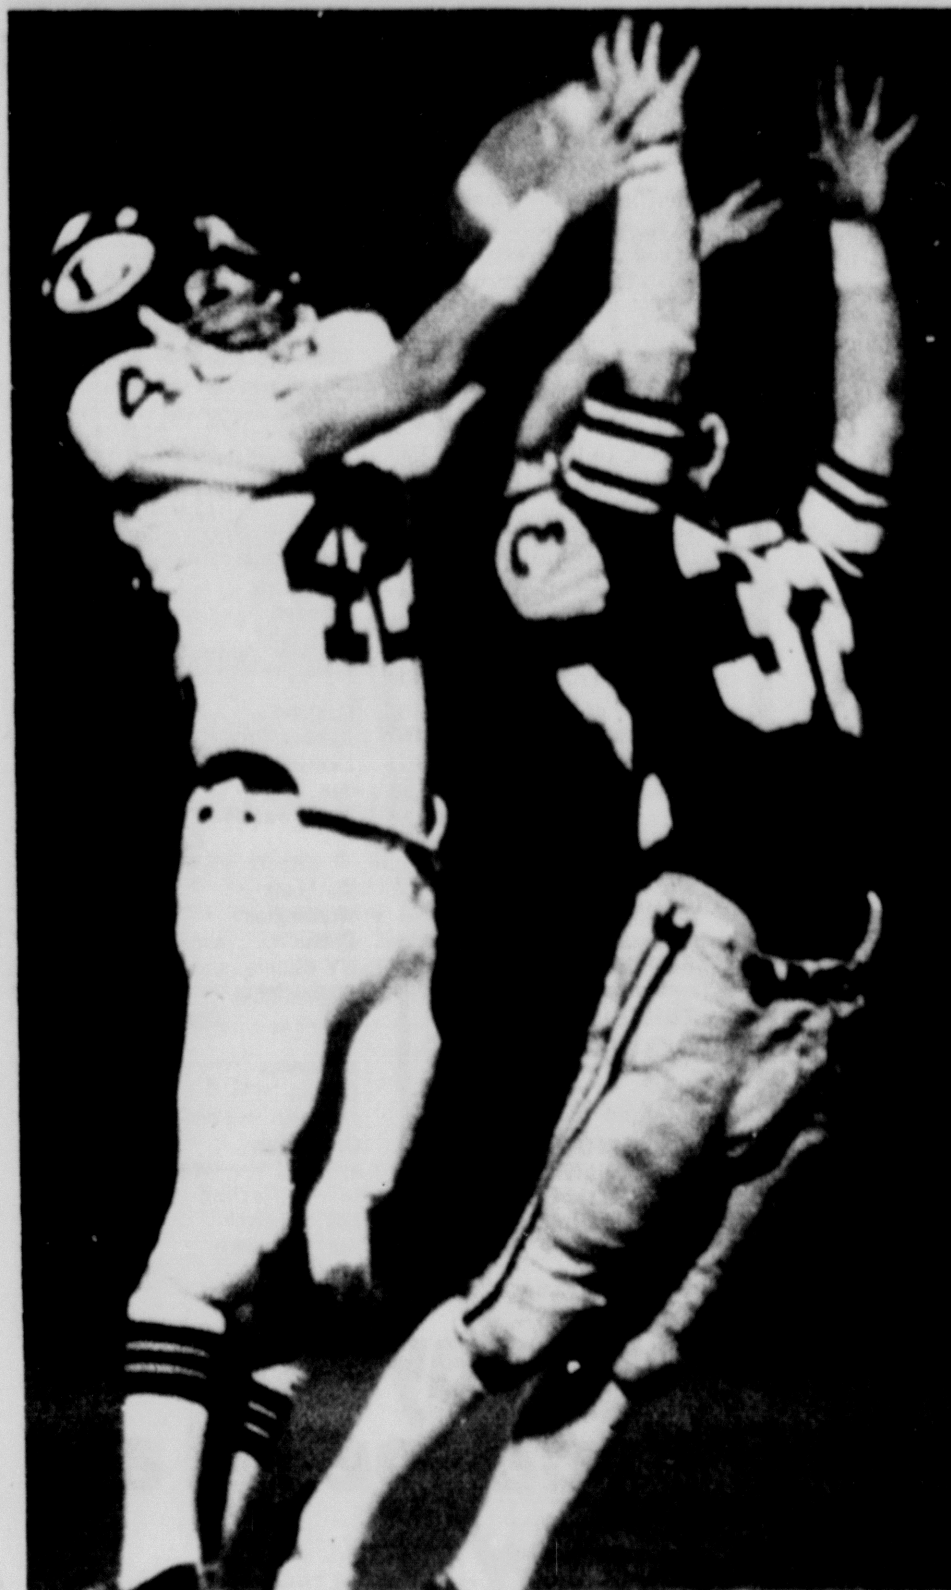

The Pac Eight representative in the Rose Bowl won't be known until Nov. 28 when UCLA meets Southern Cal. If UCLA wins that game it would go to the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1966, but if the Trojans win then the winner of next Saturday's California-Stanford game would be the conference champ.

PEEKING AROUND the corner, Cabrillo halfback Ron Carney looks for running room. He found plenty Friday night, slashing through the Lompoc defense for 141 yards, including runs of 44 and 39 yards. Defending above are linebacker Mike Walker and noseguard Richard Aguilar.

A SHOW OF HANDS. Lompoc receiver Tony Guest, who sometimes catches 100 passes a day in practice, saw his work pay off Friday as he caught three important passes against Cabrillo, including this grab made despite the tight defense of Tom Purvis.

Braves win...

first TD. That drive also featured an 18-yard Van Allen pass to Jerry Tolstad.

• Boler's 51-yard TD dash up the middle, with a key screen-block from 128-pound Tito Rodriguez, that put Lompoc ahead 14-9 in the second quarter.

• Van Allen's 51-yard TD run in the third quarter, called back on a backfield-in-motion penalty (one of six such calls against Lompoc).

• A 39-yard run by Carney in the fourth quarter, setting up Cabrillo's go-ahead score.

Almost lost in the excitement of the game was the fact that Boler, who scored both Lompoc TDs, passed the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the season. He got 115 yards to bring his total to 1,103. Carney netted 141 yards to finish the season with 976, and McGant got 32 yards and wound up with 922 on the year.

The Conqs took control of the game, early, allowing the Braves zero first downs in the first quarter, taking a 9-0 lead, and forcing the Braves to start a drive from their own 10 in the second quarter. That drive ended in a TD, which, along with Boler's long TD gallop less than two minutes later, changed the complexion of the game.

"What really pleased us," said Warren, "was to have the game start like it did and have the kids come back like they did. Other City Series games have been all but decided in the first quarter. We were sure we could move the ball, even if it didn't happen at the outset.... We stayed with our game plan, and it's a credit to our quarterback and all of our kids that they responded to the challenge."

Warren praised the play of his defense, led by noseguard Richard Aguilar, who made 10 tackles and five assists. Tackle Rick Dimitt did a big job, as did Beltran, end Bill Lundy, and linebackers Rick McDonald and Mike Walker.

"I was really proud of the kids on both teams," said Warren, who personally congratulated the Cabrillo team for their effort.

"It was the hardest-played high school game I've ever seen, and it made me feel bad for them (the Conqs) because they played so hard."

Knowles, in two years of head coaching, has set some kind of two-year record for heartbreaks (remember last year's Lompoc-Cabrillo, and this year's Cabrillo-Santa Maria?).

"It was a successful season for us," Knowles said. "The difference between a successful season and a championship season is minute."

It was a big week for boys' sports at Lompoc High. The cross country and water polo teams beat Cabrillo and won league championships, and the JV and frosh football teams also beat Cabrillo, for the first such clean sweep ever.

And now the Braves, who lost their first two games by huge margins, are in the CIF playoffs for the fourth time in this decade.

Steeplechase win

CAMDEN, S.C. (UPI) — Jockey Dave Washer tasted a little bit of irony Saturday in winning the $50,000 Colonial Cup International, the nation's richest steeplechase event.

Washer, 33, coaxed 16-1 shot Cafe Prince to a two-stride victory in the two mile, six-and-a-half furlong race.

Valley sports:

Junior rodeo

Four Lompoc Valley rodeo riders took firsts in their events at Saturday's fifth annual Lompoc FFA Junior Rodeo at La Salle Canyon.

Jennifer Nogle won the steer riding event, with Casey Bryant second. Mike Studley took first in bullriding, and Ron Quisenberry tied for first in steer-stopping. Becca Stewart won the barrel racing, with Cheryn Pettit second.

The bull riding event almost ended in tragedy when Jim Benincasa of Atascadero cut his neck on the horns of his bull while falling off. Benincasa suffered a torn artery in his neck, but was reported in good condition today and will be back riding within a week.

The El Segundo volleyball Eagles got lost on their way to the Lompoc Valley, but finally showed up and won their first-round CIF playoff game with the Cabrillo Conqs Saturday night.

The Eagles won 15-7, 15-13 after showing up an hour late.

The Conqs finished the season, their first ever in interscholastic volleyball, with a 11-2 record.

"Andrea Westover and Margie Phipps played well all-around, and Terry Skogebo played good defense," said Conq coach Marti Bittman. "We were inconsistent at times, but I was very pleased."

Conq tennis

The Cabrillo tennis team dominated the Northern League individual competition Friday, winning first singles and taking first and second in doubles.

Carolyn Norris completed a perfect 12-0 season of league play by winning the singles title. After a first-round bye, Norris defeated Linda Swarz of Righetti 7-6, 6-1; Vicki Ramirez of St. Joseph 6-4, 4-6, 6-2; and Wendy Heinzenberger of Righetti 6-1, 6-1.

The Conq doubles teams of Judy Goodwin-Cindy Hargis and Mary Madden-Wendy Holt also won league championships. The two Conq doubles teams met for the championship, with Goodwin-Hargis winning 6-4, 3-6, 5-4 (tie breaker played at 4-4 due to darkness).

The Conq winners play in CIF individual competition next Saturday in Torrance, while the Conq team plays next Monday in CIF.

Cougar runners win

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Washington State is usually at or near the bottom of the Pacific Eight in most sports, but they are the champions this season in one competition.

The Cougar runners captured the conference cross-country championships Saturday on the six mile Stanford course.

Five Cougars placed in the top 10 with Joshua Kimeto taking first in 27:48.6 and John Negen second in 27:52.2.

Cheers for new NY goalie

United Press International
The chant started in the upper reaches of Madison Square Garden and reached a crescendo as time ran out on the Detroit Red Wings Sunday night and the New York Rangers completed a 3-0 victory.

"Defense," the crowd roared. "Defense."
"It was the big thrill of the night," said Ranger goalie John Davidson, who scored the first shutout of his National Hockey League career. "It wasn't really my shutout. Everybody backed checked throughout the game, there were few two-on-ones situations and no breakaways."

"The shutout belonged to the team," he said. "But it sure was great to hear that crowd cheering 'defense.'"

"I think the guys realize this is the team," said Davidson, referring to the recent Ranger trades. "They're ready to play together."

Davidson turned aside 23 shots and Pete Stemkowski, Steve Vickers and Walt Tkaczuk scored a goal each for the Rangers who are in third place in the Patrick Division, one point ahead of Atlanta.

The Buffalo Sabres defeated the California Golden Seals 4-1, the Boston Bruins beat the Kansas City Scouts 4-2 and the Philadelphia Flyers downed the Montreal Canadiens 3-1 in other NHL games Sunday.

THINK ABOUT IT!

By Bob Lilley

In 1930—it cost 3¢ to mail a letter—and $9.50 to make a phone call from Boston to San Francisco. In 1974 it cost 10¢ to mail a letter and only $1.45 for the same call. Let's see, postage went up over 3 times—telephone rates down over 6 times. Maybe they ought to merge—U.S. Telephone & Postal Services?

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Manage your resources with extra prudence today. Assume no new obligations. Be careful to whom you make loans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're likely to run into some opposition from an unexpected quarter. Don't make matters worse by getting uptight yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone is going to take you to task today for something that you were supposed to do, but haven't. Have your excuses ready.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Avoid chumming around today with a friend who is too set upon having his own way. You're in no mood to be dictated to.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't look for anything to be handed to you on a silver platter. It won't be. If you want something done, do it yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll find that ideas you thought others were in accord with will be challenged today. Try not to force compliance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be careful today not to be pressured into parting with something you like by a super salesman type. You know how to say "No" — and mean it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're going to have to deal with some people today you're not overly fond of. Skirt touchy issues.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This will be a day when things you've left undone pop up to haunt you. Hope you didn't sweep too much under the rug!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be careful today not to do something thoughtless that could create ill-will between you and a friend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Things aren't likely to be very placid on the home front today because of outside issues dropped on your doorstep.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Usually you keep your temper but today you could blow very easily over something you've tolerated before.

Jim: "There is an opening lead made on every hand. Sometimes it doesn't make any difference what you lead. On other occasions it means the difference between making and losing the contract."

Oswald: "Against a slam contract your first decision must be whether or not to attack. Your second, where to attack if an attack appears to be called for."

Jim: "Now take a look at the West hand. You hold the king of trumps and two queens, yet your opponents have galloped into a slam. You expect your king of trumps will be a winner. South has bid two, three and six spades. Where is the other trick going to come from?"

Oswald: "The answer is that if it is going to come from diamonds your partner will have a diamond trick that will keep. If it is going to come from hearts or clubs, then you had better lead one of those suits right away."

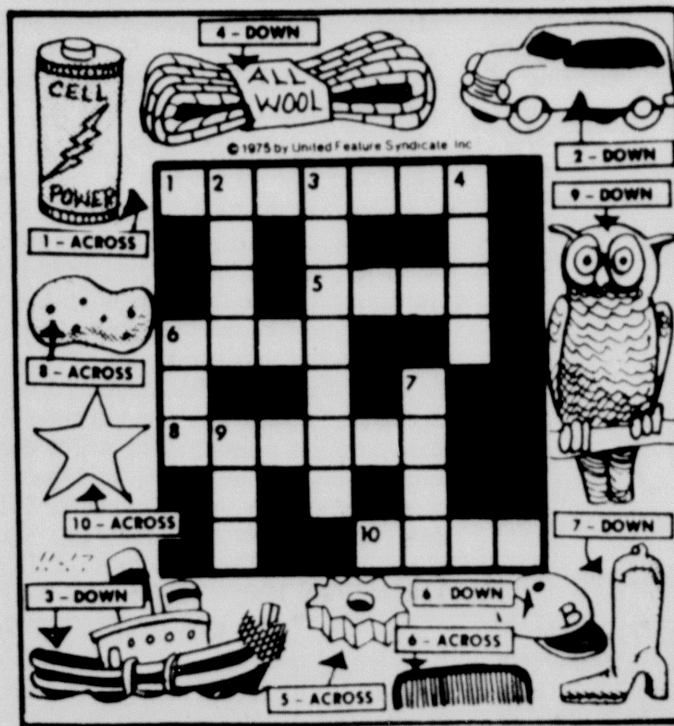

Jim: "The suit to attack in is clearly your short one. You only have three hearts. There is a good chance that you will score a heart trick if your partner holds the king. You lead it and North-South complain of bad luck. Lead anything else and they score the slam."

ASKING GOODBYE

A Florida reader has two questions about the Jacoby Transfer Bid. We will answer one today and one tomorrow and will discuss the bid at length early next year. The first question is: "How do you transfer to the minor suits?" The simplest way is to use the two-spade response to one notrump as a transfer to clubs and the three-club response as a transfer to diamonds.

Deregulation

American industry has complained of government meddling for years, and a major plank in most Republican party platforms has been to muzzle the bureaucracy and allow the free enterprise system to work.

Now Republican President Ford has proposed doing exactly that in one of the largest industries in the country — transportation.

And who are the greatest opponents of Ford's regulatory reforms? Large segments of the transportation industry.

It would appear the companies — at least the truckers and the airlines — do not want more freedom from big government. Railroads seem to have less fear of deregulation.

Ford has sent Congress three separate bills designed to ease regulation on the highways, airways and railways.

All three allow freedom within limits to raise or lower rates without government approval, end the practice of joint rate-setting, allow new companies more freedom to enter the market and older established companies more freedom to abandon unprofitable routes.

The idea is to let competition drive down fares and lower the average consumer's cost of living.

But when Ford's plan to reduce regulation of truck and bus lines was made public last week, the American Trucking Association denounced it as "the ultimate in governmental irresponsibility."

When the airline plan was sent to Congress in early October, the Air Transport Association complained it "would disrupt airline service and cause public inconvenience and confusion."

What do these industry groups have against deregulation?

Government regulatory policies aim to protect those already in business.

If the present regulatory policy is abandoned, hundreds of new truck lines may spring up overnight, possibly with better service and lower rates, possibly chasing some older firms out of existence.

In the aviation industry, dozens of airlines might compete on lucrative routes with no guarantee that the existing protected airline would win out.

Rate wars would be likely.

Exit Schlesinger

Count me in, please, among the bereaved by the loss of James Schlesinger. Along with just about everyone else, I deem Henry Kissinger the most persuasive advocate in the republic, and inasmuch as his policies — as distinguished from his motivations — are in my judgment wrongheaded, I sometimes wish he were less lucid, less eloquent, though one takes pride in the sonority of his prose and the craftsmanship of his arguments.

Schlesinger, incredibly, is in the same league. All the more painful that he should be dropped from the Cabinet — for the sole purpose, if we are to take President Ford at his word, of creating a team with which Mr. Ford feels comfortable. There are those of us who would prefer that Mr. Ford endure a little discomfort, rather than that he should strive so successfully to cause the Soviet Union to be comfortable. The elimination of Schlesinger will in all likelihood create a new Soviet holiday.

It happens that a fortnight ago I met the Secretary of Defense and asked him a few questions the answers to which are especially pertinent under the circumstances.

Q. Are you affected by the crystallizing ethic of the Sixties; namely that the Secretary of Defense, like the Secretary of State, is morally bound by the foreign policy (they administer?). Or is it your idea of a civil servant that one doesn't permit oneself to ask that question (about a policy dictated from above).

Mr. Schlesinger. Certainly not the latter. I think that you have two questions there. The first was: Could a public official carry out a policy that happened, for a variety of historical reasons, to have earned the disapprobation of the intellectual community? The answer to that is certainly. It's one's responsibility, if the policy is in the national interest and it is right to carry it out. On the other hand, if one has moral misgivings of one's own of a serious nature, one has the obligation to withdraw.

The next question asked whether there is an ethical distortion between the responsibilities of the civil servant and the policymaker — between the corporal and the Secretary of Defense.

Mr. Schlesinger. The policy maker, if he disagrees with policy in a serious way, should depart.

Q. Is the Secretary of Defense ex officio a policy maker?

Mr. Schlesinger. That's correct... If the forces under his command or under his scrutiny are being used in a way which he regards as inappropriate and he has no sympathy with the policy, he should turn the office over to somebody who does have sympathy with the policy, because he would be ineffective in carrying it out.

Q. From which we may infer that you were not out of sympathy with our policy when you became Secretary of Defense?

S. That is correct.

Having identified himself as entirely in accord with the United States effort in South Vietnam, Mr. Schlesinger paused to deliberate the effects of our failure there.

S. I think that it's clear, in terms of our own policies, that the patience of the U.S. public for a protracted conflict, apparently unsuccessful, is quite limited and that consequently our own policies should be geared not to that kind of protracted conflict; that a military engagement should not be permitted with the involvement of American forces to extend over many years; and that that requires an alteration in our strategy. In Vietnam we had, we thought, the staying power. It turned out not to be the case. And I think that we can draw that conclusion with regard to our own policies, and I suspect that other governments will draw what inferences they will from this experience.

Questions unasked at this point, to which however the former Secretary of Defense may in due course vouchsafe his answers:

Q. What inferences will our allies draw from your dismissal?

Q. Even as there is an obligation to withdraw if one is not in sympathy with the policies of an administration, is there a surviving obligation — having withdrawn, or been dismissed — to express one's misgivings about current policies?

THE CANNIBALS

Washington Merry-Go-Round by Jack Anderson

S.O.S. from the fleet

WASHINGTON — Conditions aboard some of the Navy's proudest ships are shocking and shameful. We have written in the past about the deteriorating fleet. Our columns have brought a deluge of additional complaints, which we have verified.

On the carrier Hancock, a young seaman plunged to his death because of Navy negligence. On the carrier Saratoga, sailors choked at night in squalid, 120-degree bunks. The roach-infested destroyer tender Sierra served food that was "barely edible."

Other Navy craft have put out to sea on special missions, intended to teach how to survive a nuclear attack, when they were so dilapidated they could barely survive the trip out of the harbor.

The creaky old carrier Saratoga is a sad symbol of the state of the modern Navy. Since it was commissioned in 1956, the Navy has been compelled to load it down with the sophisticated equipment of the nuclear age. This has required a host of technicians who have been shoehorned into overcrowded quarters.

A few weeks ago, the carrier set out on a training cruise. But its commander, Capt. Robert Bunn, had to head into port five days early because it was in no condition to remain at sea.

Despite Dunn's best efforts, crewmen had to work 12 to 18 hours a day simply to keep the Saratoga moving. The engineers and firemen often had no showers to wash off the grime of their long drudgery.

The bathrooms were dirty, the toilets and urinals clogged. Chow lines were so long that crewmen complained it sometimes took two hours to get served. Dunn insisted, however, that the maximum was 45 minutes. Enlisted men, for lack of cold milk and water, often drank warm soda pop with their meals.

At sea, a fire broke out and tied up some crewmen all night. Yet they were summoned to reveille at 6 a.m. When they finally struggled to their bunks, the air conditioner was broken, and they sweated.

One enlisted men's lounge, established for a dozen men, usually thronged with as many as 50. Yet crowding became so bad that the lounge was converted into bunk space. This left many sailors with no convenient space to write letters or watch tv.

Even the junior officers' quarters were so confined that two civilian technical experts took one look and fled the ship. An earlier group of civilians, representing defense contractors, complained about aviation fuel in their living space.

Yet, when a goldbraided inspection team arrived on board, they virtually ignored the enlisted men's plight but gawked about missing light bulbs, toothbrush holders and towel holders in the officers' rooms. The Navy inspectors were positively indignant, for instance, about an officer's stuck drawer.

A shade Neanderthal

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When President Ford's election campaign staff was assembled last spring it immediately began to compile a list of potential successors to the unwanted vice president, Nelson Rockefeller. Largely, the list was an accumulation of Ford cronies, party hacks and weary warriors from old wars. One exception, though, was the name of Jack Kemp, age 40, three-term workhorse congressman from Buffalo, and clearly one of the truly interesting, even appealing, young conservatives in the shaky Republican establishment.

Mostly dismissed as a novelty when he came to Washington in 1971, a professional football player (Buffalo Bills) who could read, Kemp has, in a remarkably short time, developed into a legislator of note, a representative who represents, and a comer in a party that desperately needs attractive faces.

He won't be Jerry Ford's vice presidential choice next year and he knows it, but there are decades of time to contemplate. "I don't want to be like (Bob) Mathias or (Vinegar Bend) Mizell," he says, referring to other jocks who come and go in politics; his philosophy, "absolutely," is one of upward mobility.

His philosophy is also outdated, in some respects, or at least according to conventional political wisdoms and tendencies. A one-time Californian of the Richard Nixon persuasion, once describing himself as "to the right of Attila the Hun," he has moderated his ideology in Congress, but only somewhat. Of Nixon he now says, as do so many, "I was deceived," and he has voted at time for trimming the military budget, for consumer protection legislation, and against direct corporate campaign funding. Still he's considered stodgy. "He's got," explains one liberal, "the look of Ron Zeigler about him."

For his part, Kemp seems torn between images. The sign on his office door demands that Vietnam MIAs be accounted for, a leftover from his nearly unqualified support for that embarrassing war, but in his untidy office, under a huge picture of old adversary Ernie Ladd, Kemp insists he is a "constructive" conservative, that is, pro-people in a way that transcends rhetoric.

He voted against the emergency jobs legislation of last summer, he says, not because he is against jobs, "to the contrary," but because he is against deceitful jobs: "What we must do is create permanent jobs, not by handouts but with solid capital."

Now he is out of his chair, warming to his subject, his finger poking his visitor for attention. What needs to be done, he says, in more words than is necessary, is "to reduce the confiscatory burden on the productive sector of the nation." Can Ernie Ladd pronounce "confiscatory"? Never mind. Kemp points out that jobs creation costs money, as much as $40,000 apiece these days, and that in order to create the number of jobs that will be needed in America in the next decade, business will need more than $4 trillion in capital. That means profits, that means tax relief, that means a free enterprise renaissance.

Though not an economist, Kemp has introduced lucid legislation to bring about the renaissance. Called the Jobs Creation Act, his bill's intent is to create the conditions whereby in just one year the nation would realize $74 billion in unanticipated capital investment, 7 million new jobs, $151 billion in additional productivity and $5 billion in increased tax revenues.

Critics call the bill a form of welfare for moguls, but more than 100 co-sponsors have signed their support, many seeing it as the first step away from the American antiprofit movement, and an educational tool for better economic tomorrows.

No doubt excessively theoretical, and a mite innocent, Kemp's bill nonetheless puts him in the corner of the progressives. He does his job, he creates, he has some vision. Small wonder the people of his district re-elected him last year with 73 per cent of the votes cast.

As for the vice presidential talk at second glance it is not so preposterous. Kemp's house seat is safe, he is warmly accepted by party elders, he is in the Jerry Ford tradition — a chap who rises alongside his friends rather than over his enemies — good credentials for advancement. He is energetic, enthusiastic, bright and ambitious. Slightly naive, no doubt, and perhaps somewhat out of touch, it would mean White House regulars would not have to break him in.

Frenzy

A great deal of attention is being directed at the crime of rape in the United States. Rape crisis centers are springing up all over. Grant funds are being applied to the problem and now a new book on the history of rape is out, stirring much-needed thought on a very real problem in our society. Unfortunately, the book is also turning many people away from the subject because of the extremist stance adopted by its author.

Susan Brownmiller in her book "Against Our Will: Men, Women and Rape," claims that all men, whether or not they have committed rape, benefit from the depredations of the rapist.

"That some men rape provides a sufficient threat to keep all women in a constant state of intimidation," she writes. "...Men who commit rape have served in effect as front-line masculine shock troops, terrorist guerrillas in the longest sustained battle the world has ever known."

As one reviewer objected, this is as grotesquely exaggerated as to say that those who commit murder are the tacit agents of everyone who doesn't commit murder.

But yet, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in a speech during Law Enforcement Week called the Brownmiller book "monumental and persuasive" and further called on Americans to "recognize that our archaic laws on rape have become an instrument by which all men intimidate all women."

Don Oakley, a columnist, says that there is no question but that many of our laws dealing with rape are archaic, biased against women and overdue for change.

"But must the call for justice and reform always be accompanied by shrill accusations against an entire society, or in this case, an entire sex?" Oakley asks. "To place 'all men' in one despicable class as the oppressors of 'all women' is worse than meaningless. It is pure and simple hate-mongering."

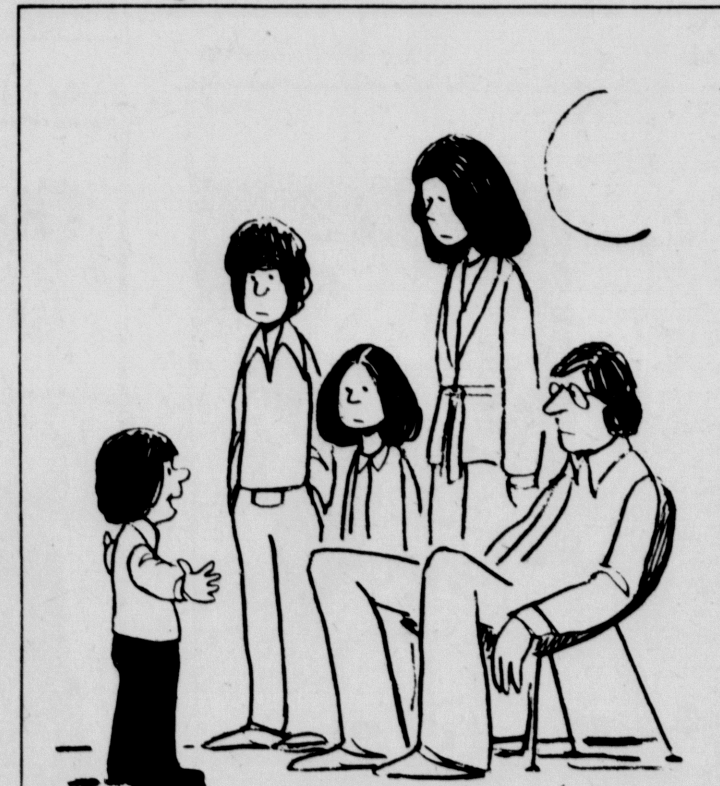

Oakley continues: "The fact is that not only have most men never committed rape but they are as incapable of it as they are of any crime against another person, of either sex. Neither are they desirous of 'intimidating' women in this or any other way, or of having someone else do it for them."

"If this were not true, the most the feminists could hope for would be an uneasy truce in 'the longest sustained battle the world has ever known' — a mockery of their professed goal of achieving respect, understanding and equality between the sexes."

THOUGHTS WHILE SHAVING
We've been told to wrap our green tomatoes in newspapers and put them in a cool place and they will ripen. We're going to give it a try... We've seen our first decorated Christmas tree this year which must set some kind of record. The tree is in the window of Chuck's Nursery on E. Ocean Avenue. Pretty, too... We're now waiting for someone to come up with a bicentennial theme for Christmas... We are sure happy that finally some federal money has been pried loose by Congressman Bob Lagomarsino to fix that Vandenberg access road to Santa Maria. The situation is dangerous and we are fortunate that, up to this time, no serious accidents have occurred... General Telephone Company employees have nicely decorated their offices with a bicentennial theme and they should be congratulated. Also, Lester's Carpets has a very distinguishable display of antiques and other memorabilia on the bicentennial theme... We think our kid has the most unique skateboard on the block. We had some antique snow skis in our garage, can't remember where they came from, and he quickly converted the ski to the skateboard.
